Miceli, Sears exchange barbs in debate

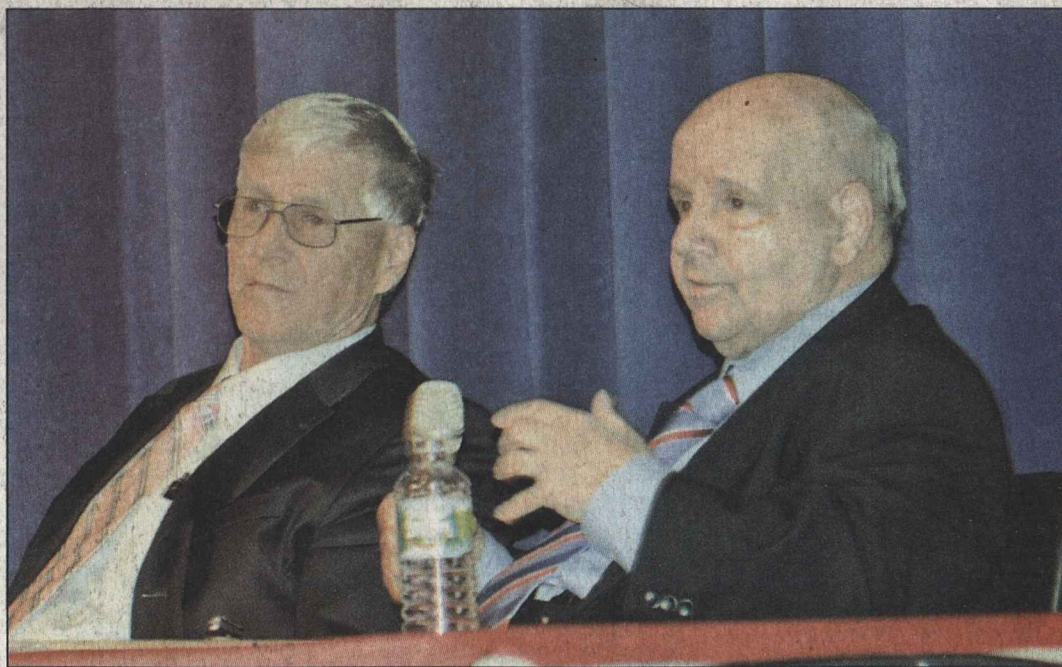

By LISA KENNEDY-COX

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Candidates for the Massachusetts State House took on tough issues Tuesday night, exchanging jabs in an at times contentious debate.

Incumbent Representative Jim Miceli faced former Selectman Douglas Sears, Esq. at 7:00 pm. Media partners Tewksbury and Wilmington Town Crier, the Lowell Sun, and Your Tewksbury Today teamed up to present a panel discussion at the McGrath Performing Arts Center inside TMHS at 320 Pleasant Street, Tewksbury.

Moderator and Sun Enterprise Editor Chris Scott had his hands full as the two squared off in a fairly contentious debate over most of the issues presented, including abortion, health care costs, and mental health, the casino debate and Market Basket to name a few.

The first question came from Jayne Miller, Editor for the Town Crier to Representative Miceli, stating that world-class health care costs come with world-class bills. She asked if he were reelected how he would handle the problem, to which he replied "I would make sure we tighten up what they're doing in hospitals, that we should stop the expansion. Consolidation is not working. A funding mechanism must be discovered," and that the bottom line is the current process "has to be changed."

The candidates agreed on a handful of issues including the Common Core curriculum, both in opposition to the highly debated program that is being implemented across the country. Miceli told the panel, "It's going to be financially impossible to put this new program into play. Kids won't get the edu-

Funding secured for Glen Rd. & Wildwood

WILMINGTON - The Mass. Department of Transportation (MassDOT) announced last week that funding has been identified for the Wilmington Intersection Improvements Project which covers the Route 62 (Middlesex Avenue) Glen Rd. and Wildwood St. locations.

"We target our transportation investments in projects like the Wilmington intersection that make a difference for those who travel through areas like this every day," said MassDOT Highway Administrator Frank DePaola. "Work associated with the project will result in a much safer and more efficient roadway that will benefit the community and motorists alike for years to come."

The proposed improvements include the installation of fully actuated traffic signals at the intersection of Route 62 and Glen Rd., and Route 62 and Wildwood St. to improve traffic safety. The improvements will also incorporate exclusive turn lanes, safe pedestrian crossings, and emergency vehicle signal prioritization.

"The Glen Road intersection is critical for the Town of Wilmington, and it needs to move vehicular and pedestrian traffic safely and efficiently," said Senator Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester). "That hasn't been the case for far too long and that's why it's good news that our persistence is going to bring results through the investment and expertise coming from MassDOT to this important project."

Mother speaks out on behalf of son who died from heroin overdose

The slippery slope of addiction

By LISA KENNEDY-COX
News Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - Mary Giroux is well-versed in what it means to be addicted. She knows about street drugs and their components. She knows about pharmaceutical companies and how drugs normally administered for serious issues such as bone cancer have ended up on the street, and how the expense to keep up the addiction to those drugs can lead to a cheaper and often fatal alternative: Heroin. Over time, the risks have become greater.

According to the Bureau of Substance Abuse Services at the Department of Public Health

(DPH) 478 residents of Tewksbury and 283 residents of Wilmington were admitted to the hospital for substance abuse with half of them indicating they had used heroin in the past year. Neurosurgeons Dr. Anand Veeravagu and Dr. Robert M. Lober wrote an article for The Daily Beast earlier this year and noted, "Each year, as many as 22 percent of users will suffer a near miss, where you fall asleep and don't wake up. It is so common that, for every fatal overdose, there are an estimated 25 to 50 near misses."

"Mary Giroux's words: 'DO NOT TRY IT ONCE' resonate as more statistics come forth. 'I don't think these kids realize how fatal drug addiction is.

There's no turning back."

There was no turning back for Mary's son, Joshua, who died on October 24, 2013. Mary received a call from Joshua's father, telling her that he found Joshua unresponsive. She arrived, police everywhere, to find what she already knew. Joshua was gone.

In the blink of an eye, in a decision based on the physical and emotional pain of addiction, another life was snuffed out. Joshua was 24 years old. He was smart, hilariously funny, loving, and much loved. As Mary pointed out, Joshua had his faults, but the stigma around addiction points the finger at the individ-

Newhouse home becomes Haunted House

By AARON HARRINGTON
Special to the Town Crier

WILMINGTON - Halloween each year brings a certain kind of fun to town; from the Horribles parade to the myriad number of Oktoberfest celebrations to even the annual candy deluge that arrives on the 31st. This year however, town resident David Newhouse and his family offer a fright-filled journey through the one place they know best: their own home.

"I've always enjoyed trick or treating with my wife and kids," said Newhouse when asked why he converted his own home into a scream factory.

Building such a house of horrors had a humble beginning and development, as Newhouse described: "We started out small, doing little scares and building up to the current haunted house." And the final version sounds more at home as a full attraction at a theme park than an individually created Halloween hangout.

Newhouse went on to describe the features and parts of the community attraction that make the screams happen—12 volunteers from family and acquaintances work alongside Newhouse to ensure frights for anyone who dares visit the house, alongside animatronic devices to add to the horror value. When guests arrive at the house to brave its scares, they'll also be treated to one of the other major aspects of this public display: music and lighting.

"We have a DJ situated in the house that plays Halloween music for the neighborhood," continues Newhouse. Music accompanied by a lighting system that adds to the dynamic appearance of the house.

Visitors will most certainly recognize which house belongs to Newhouse, and will know just where to go for a good scaring: alongside the lighting and music, the house sports Halloween decor to aid in the creepy atmosphere on the outside as well as the inside.

Residents of the town, as well as the general public are all invited to come and enjoy the Haunted House for free during the Halloween season. The house itself is located on 3 West Jamaica Avenue in Wilmington; those with any questions about the house can contact Mr. David Newhouse through email at newhouseun@comcast.net or by calling him at 978-618-7465. Don't miss out; this haunted attraction made in Wilmington is sure to bring fright and delight to all of its visitors.

Thank you, Mr. Appolloni

Vandalism does not mar community spirit in dedication to retired principal

By LISA KENNEDY-COX

Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - On Friday October 17th a bench was dedicated to Robert Appolloni who retired as principal of the Boutwell Early Childhood Center and Shawsheen Elementary School in July of 2014, after 15 years of hard work and dedication to the children of Wilmington.

Before a group of school children, Jennifer Mahon, Early Childhood Director said, "Sometimes when you have a friend who does good things, you want to thank them."

Tara Defilippo, President of the Parent Advisory Council for the Boutwell Early Childhood Center also spoke at the dedication telling Mr. Appolloni, "You have been the rock for the Shawsheen School and the Boutwell School."

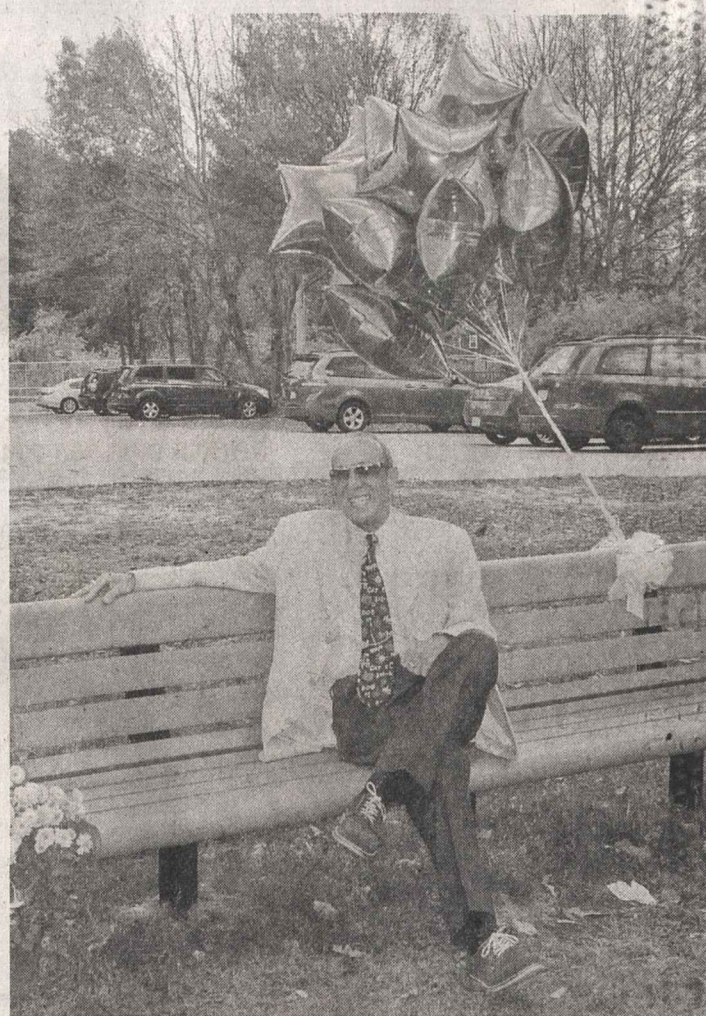

Defilippo told the Crier that although she has only worked with Mr. Appolloni for 2 years, it was clear that he was "protective of all the children" enforcing protocols, such as keeping doors locked while school is in session and monitoring parent drop-off and pick-up to ensure child safety as the number one priority.

Mr. Appolloni told attendees, "It was just an honor to work 15 years in Wilmington. When you have support of parents, it just makes your job so much easier."

When asked what he will be doing next, Appolloni told the Crier that while he will be "taking it easy" he will continue with his work as a volunteer, working as a mentor here in town.

The Boutwell Early Childhood Center and Shawsheen Elementary Schools continue to provide a positive and productive learning environment for its students. Lisa King, is now Interim Principal for the schools. She enthusiastically told the Crier, "Hopefully, I'll stay on."

The bench, which had been vandalized a week earlier, stands at the Boutwell Early Childhood Center, inscribed with a quote from Henry Brooks Adams: "A teacher affects eternity. He can never tell where his influence stops."

The Boutwell School students and Staff assembled outside on Friday when a bench was dedicated for former school principal Robert Appolloni for his many years of service to the Boutwell and the Shawsheen Elementary Schools.

Candidate Statement

Rep. James Miceli seeks re-election

The citizens of Tewksbury and Wilmington know me, and they have a real sense of the job that I have done as their State Representative.

What my opponent will not be able to say to my constituents, either today, tomorrow, next week or next month, is that I'm not working for my constituents on Beacon Hill.

That's the difference between what you know about me and what he hopes you'll forget as you vent your anger and frustration at Beacon Hill.

After many years of service to you and for you, I have never forgotten who sends me to Boston and for whom I work.

As I have said many times, "my commitment to public service has never been stronger, my ability to produce results never greater, and my enthusiasm never higher."

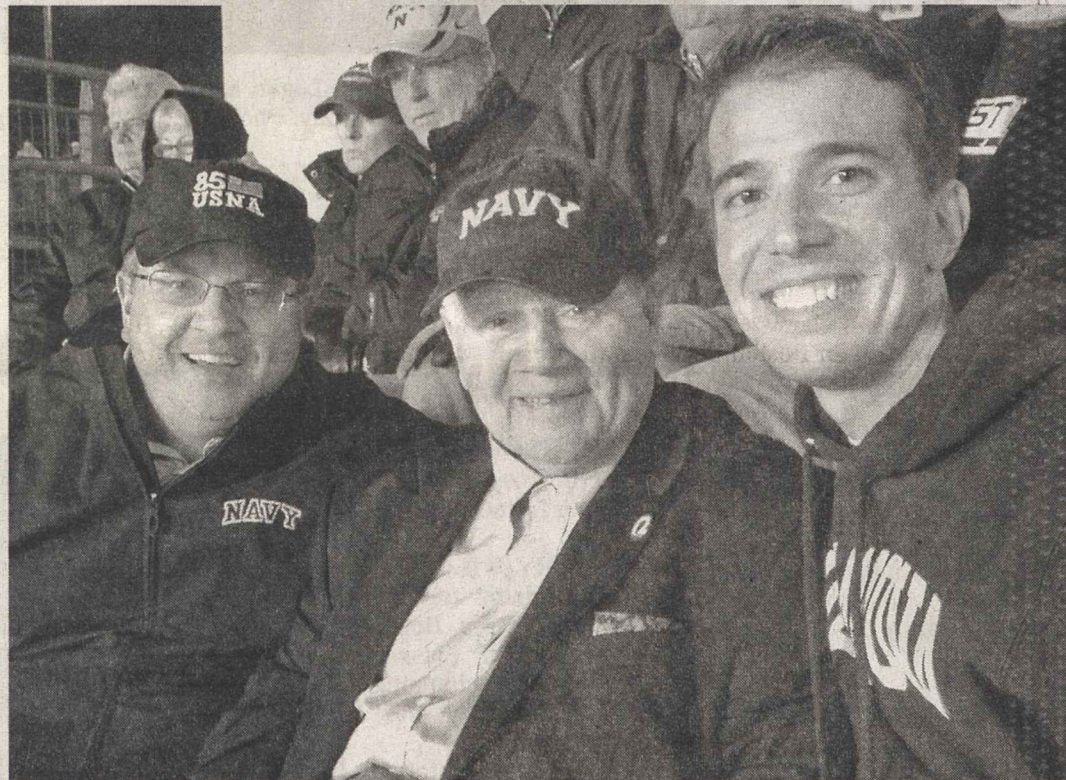

That says it all. When I first ran, I believed that my work ethic and my integrity would be my greatest tools. I was right.

My experience in the public sector as a successful insurance agency owner in Wilmington and Stoneham prepared me for my legislative work.

Regarding some major issues, I have voted against raising the sales tax and the gas tax. Historically, I have taken a tough stand on raising your taxes.

Consistently, I have voted against attempts to award benefits to illegal immigrants, including in-state tuition at our colleges.

Job-creating legislation has always been at the top of my agenda, but I continue to go a step further by helping unemployed citizens in my district to obtain employment in the private sector.

Recently we worked hard to put the Glen Road project out to bid and to override the governor's veto of both the funding for the Camp Pohelo appropriation and the Tewksbury School Department Library project. The latter I did in conjunction with the Tewksbury School Superintendent and the Tewksbury School Committee.

In my office the quality of constituent services we offer to the citizens of Tewksbury and Wilmington is excellent. We have an outstanding reputation for taking care of people's problems.

Some problems we have dealt with on a daily basis recently are helping with foreclosures and finding placement beds for drug and alcohol rehabilitation patients. Many voters call me for help to place their sick and elderly loved ones at nursing homes - I can cut through bureaucratic red tape to help allay fears and solve problems. We have also helped our constituents obtain medical coverage. The voters know I am available daily to assist them.

I have awarded scholarships to students in my two towns and am always available to contribute to many worthwhile causes and fund-raising drives throughout the year.

As I have said, on Beacon Hill giving voice to those people who pay taxes, who obey the laws, who want their children and grandchildren educated in good schools, who have the right to expect a policeman or fireman will be there by families and neighbors - that's the State Representative I have been for you.

Maybe most importantly, I have been a state representative who knows how to fight to guarantee that my constituents get back from the state government a fair share of what they paid in, either in local aid or badly needed projects.

The great aspect of our democracy is that every two years the citizens of Tewksbury and Wilmington can give me a report card. They get to decide if I've been working for them and with them.

I have continued to hold monthly office hours in each town to listen directly to the voters.

I ask for voter input on a questionnaire, which I distribute at the town meetings in Wilmington and Tewksbury. Working with the town officials, I've helped to bring many projects to completion.

If the citizens of Tewksbury and Wilmington honor me by re-electing me, I will continue to represent them with integrity, energy, effectiveness, and independence.

Representative James R. Miceli

ANNUITIES FOR RETIREMENT CASH

Longevity annuities are a recent addition to the save-for-retirement package. They don't start to pay out until the owner is 80 or 85—about the time the retiree may be wondering if he or she has enough to last a lifetime. And because of that late start, these annuities can be bought at a deep discount.

Recently, there's been an opportunity to devote a part of one's IRA or 401(k) money to such an annuity. New rules from the Internal Revenue Service make it easier for the plans to offer this option.

Modified rules allow IRA owners and 401(k) participants to use as much as 25 percent of the account balance or $125,000—whichever is lower—to buy this kind of insurance. Those qualified amounts, invested in the longevity annuities, can be ignored when calculating the Required Minimum Distribution for those accounts when the owners retire or turn 70 1/2.

Is this a good option for your retirement accounts? Talk it over with the professionals at:

Letters to the editor

Miceli for constituents

Dear Editor,

Earlier this year, Doug Sears took out nomination papers to run for Selectman, had them signed by registered voters and submitted them to the Tewksbury Town Clerk's Office.

When another very strong candidate with excellent credentials obtained nomination papers for the same office Mr. Sears withdrew his.

Doug then took out and turned in papers to be on the ballot for Town Moderator, an election he lost.

Among the reasons candidate Sears gave for his decision was that he could not devote the time necessary to perform a Selectman's duties due to increased family obligations and that he would be devoting more attention to his law office.

I know very little about Attorney Sears' law office but his most publicized recent case was to represent a large tax delinquent, described in the news as having a reputation for haunting late payments and payment agreements, before the very Board he just left, the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen.

Candidate Sears is now running for State Representative. Does that mean that Doug thinks it requires less time to be the State House Representative for Tewksbury and Wilmington than it does to be a Town Selectman?

One of the major goals in Doug's flyer is "strong constituent services." Since we already have Jim Miceli, one of the most noted providers of constituent services in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I think I will stick with Jim Miceli.

Jim has already proven himself to be a full time Representative and more. For many years you have seen Rep. Miceli at town meetings, town elections, before town boards and departments, at the Senior Center and Elderly events, supporting local schools and school projects, working for our Veterans, and participating in local events and celebrations with Tewksbury and Wilmington Clubs and Service Organizations.

I hope you will join me on Election Day, Nov. 4, 2014, voting for Representative Jim Miceli.

Sincerely,
Warren R. Carey
Tewksbury

A vote for Sears

Dear Editor,

Although he is 7 years younger, Rep. Angelo M. Scaccia (D - Readville) has more seniority than Rep. Jim Miceli (D - Wilmington & Tewksbury) on Beacon Hill. This bugs Jim no end. As long as Rep. Scaccia is in office, Jim will never be "Dean" of the House. The elusive dream of someday being "Dean" keeps Jim soldiering on term after term. But, really, isn't it time for Jim to pack it in? How does this personal goal help Wilmington and Tewksbury?

Consider this: although Jim's served well for many of his 37 years as Representative, isn't he acting more and more like the town politician he was when he was first elected to the Wilmington Planning Board in 1963? There's been a change. Instead of representing the interests of our towns' boards and citizen groups on Beacon Hill, he now puts his nose into everybody's business and acts like a politician who has never left town.

Case in point: Tewksbury's May 2013 Town Meeting. The town came in to the meeting with a balanced budget. Department heads, elected and appointed committees, and others had negotiated since January to get a budget all could accept. A hazard of Open Town Meeting is that it can get hijacked by a special interest group. It happened. A small band of town employees used Jim to carry their water. He did so with gusto! Quite a show.

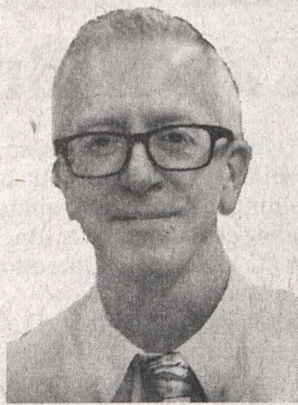

Rep. Miceli championed the special interest group's agenda. The budget balance went out of whack. Cuts had to be made in Veterans services, and in other departments across the board. What really fried the town officials before whom he grandstanded was, among other things, he did not sit down with, or even telephone, any one of them to let them know what he was doing. Jim seemed to relish in his power to mess up their collaborative work.

Rep. Miceli may be hanging around to wait out becoming "Dean" in Boston, but here in the suburbs this very public disrespect of his constituents' locally elected and appointed officials is unbecoming of a Representative. When a Representative leads the charge to order such town leaders around, he has lost relevance and focus. A Representative's job is to help our towns' leaders on Beacon Hill, not to throw them under the bus at home.

I am voting for Doug Sears as our Representative. It's time! Doug tells it like it is. You may not always agree with Doug, but you always know where he stands. After 2 terms on the School Committee and 3 terms on the Board of Selectmen, Doug is respectful of the work of town boards. As a former Executive in the Weld Administration, Doug asks for your vote so he can work with Governor Charlie Baker as our towns' Representative.

Life in the fast lane

by Scott Mallowney

I've often wondered about the people who get into car accidents on the highway during rush hour commutes. They tie up traffic while standing helplessly beside their immobile vehicles. You see them stranded in the middle lane while other commuters try in vain to circumvent the situation. These lost souls are just like you and me. And last week, I became one of them.

I don't usually travel in the travel lane when I drive. I'm a slow lane kind of guy, or middle lane at best if I feel daring. For some reason on the morning of my accident, I decided the third lane was a better option. I was traveling south on Interstate 93 in heavy traffic heading into Boston at 8:30 in the morning. My radio was not very entertaining, so I popped in my favorite Blondie CD to listen to some tunes to distract me from the relentless boredom of my morning commute.

Somewhere before the Sullivan Square exit, something in my rearview mirror caught my eye. A driver in a BMW swerved out of the far left fast lane, apparently to avoid the carpool lane and the possibility of a steep traffic ticket. The car came up behind me so fast - one moment there was nothing in my rear view mirror, and the next moment a speeding car was dangerously close to my back bumper. In an instant, I heard a loud BAM as the car behind me was struck by the vehicle behind him. The impact pushed the BMW into the back of my car. The second loud BAM I heard was his car smashing into my rear bumper.

I had my seatbelt on but I was still jostled forward. I stopped my car and prayed there would be no more BAMS as I sat stunned by the impact. The drivers of the two vehicles behind me and I exited our vehicles to assess the damage. Luckily no one was injured, although the two vehicles behind mine were significantly damaged.

Being somewhat intelligent, I said to the driver who hit my car, "I think we're supposed to pull over to the side of the road." The driver said he wasn't comfortable moving his car across three lanes of rush hour traffic. He called the state police at 911 to help our three vehicles maneuver to the breakdown lane. I told him I often wondered who the people were that get in these kinds of accidents as I drive past them on the highway.

He replied, "I'm going to wait inside my car until the police arrive." I guess he wasn't in the mood for small talk since his car acquired the most damage in the middle of the monkey pile. Perturbed at being snubbed, I returned to my car to gather my license and registration. I guess this wasn't the place or time to get to know your neighbor.

The police arrived promptly and guided the three vehicles to the breakdown lane. The officer collected our licenses and registrations. He returned to my car window several minutes later with copies of the police report and the information of the other drivers involved. I was rattled and shaken, but happy my Dodge Nitro saved my life. My SUV sustained no damage, a testament to good old fashioned American automobile design.

The BMW that rear ended my auto wasn't so lucky. The car had over $1,000 worth of damage which meant even though I wasn't filing a claim for damages, I still had to fill out an accident report in triplicate and mail it to the police, the DMV and my insurance company. This accident turned into a real pain in the neck (literally). I continued on my merry way to work, but I left the office early after the adrenaline wore off and the realization of what happened started to sink in.

This accident made me wonder if outside forces exist that put us in the wrong place at the wrong time. Is it fate or grand design? That particular morning, I would have been on the road sooner, but I spent an extra ten minutes trying to find a certain necktie I wanted to wear. If I had chosen a different outfit and left the house ten minutes earlier, would I still have been involved in a three car pile-up, or was I destined for something far worse that was averted by my search for the perfect accessory. Does a higher power exist that sends us in and out of harms way? Are we always one step away from dangerous situations depending on the alignment of the stars?

Ironically, on my way home, Debbie Harry's voice echoed through my car stereo speakers as she sang, "...accidents never happen in a perfect world..." I guess this world ain't so perfect after all.

Letters to the editor

Girouard for State Rep

Dear Editor,

Like most Massachusetts residents, I want my hard earned tax dollars to be spent wisely. Although wages across the state have remained stagnant, our taxes and fees continue to rise and I have been discouraged by several stories in the news over the last couple of years exposing mismanagement on Beacon Hill. When a vote came up last year for EBT reform, I emailed my representative, Ken Gordon, requesting that he vote for these reforms. Restricting the use of EBT cards to necessities, oversight by the OIG, eliminating cash benefits that can be misused and verifying eligibility seem to be common sense. If our legislators do not prevent fraud and abuse, there is less money for people who legitimately need assistance as well as for other tax payer funded programs such as education, road repair, etc. In Mr. Gordon's response, he indicated that he would only vote for "comprehensive EBT reform" but spoke only about excessive transaction fees to banks. He did not elaborate on what he considers to be excessive fees. In contrast, my state senator, Bruce Tarr, fully supported these reforms. I would like to see more fiscally conservative representatives like Bruce Tarr on Beacon Hill and so I plan to vote for Paul Girouard for State Representative for Precinct Three in Wilmington.

L'Italien's legislative experience

To the Editor:

I am writing to encourage my fellow residents to join me and support Barbara L'Italien for State Senate. Barbara is a skilled legislator and has the knowledge and drive to work hard for Tewksbury to get things done. In Tewksbury we have a number of issues that will require strong collaboration with our state delegation, whether it is the state hospital and PILOT funds to reimburse our public safety outlays or the desperate need to acquire funding to improve Route 38. Bringing a piece of legislation through the entire process requires determination. It is easy to throw out proposals and policy suggestions, but in the end, someone must advocate, negotiate, and drive a piece of legislation to the Governor's desk.

Barbara has proven that she is that person, not only in her previous service in the State Legislature, but also while working for the Treasurer's office.

She has shepherded important legislation through Beacon Hill, working across the political aisle to bring important policies forward and get them implemented.

Most important to me, Barbara is straightforward and honest about the hard decisions when it comes to our state budget. We would all love to live in a world where we could cut taxes, increase local aid, and provide more services to our residents. However the reality is that we must pay for the government we demand, and Barbara will make the difficult decisions to make sure our tax dollars are spent responsibly and in the most efficient way.

Barbara L'Italien is the right choice for Tewksbury in the State Senate and I ask that you join me in voting for her on November 4th.

Support Vispoli

To the Editor:

As a lifelong resident of the Second Essex & Middlesex District, I am very happy to have the opportunity to vote for Alex Vispoli for State Senate.

At a time when voters everywhere are becoming more disenchanted with government, Alex is campaigning on a much-needed platform of accountability and transparency.

As a member of the Andover Board of Selectmen, Alex has proven himself to be accessible and responsible, demonstrating the kind of leadership we need in the State House. Bringing a fresh perspective and new ideas, he will be going to the State Senate as a thoughtful and pragmatic representative of the people, ever attentive to our concerns and ever conscious of his role as a public servant. That is why I encourage the voters of Andover, Dracut, Lawrence, and Tewksbury to join me in supporting Alex Vispoli for State Senate on November 4th.

BBB Offers Tips for Customer Responsibility

In order to be a smart consumer in a constantly evolving marketplace, one that produces many new products and services daily, it's important to remember to do your research and know your responsibility as a customer.

It's easy to become overwhelmed with all of the choices when purchasing a new product or service. BBB reminds consumers to do their due diligence by researching, shopping around and knowing the rights and responsibilities associated when making a purchase.

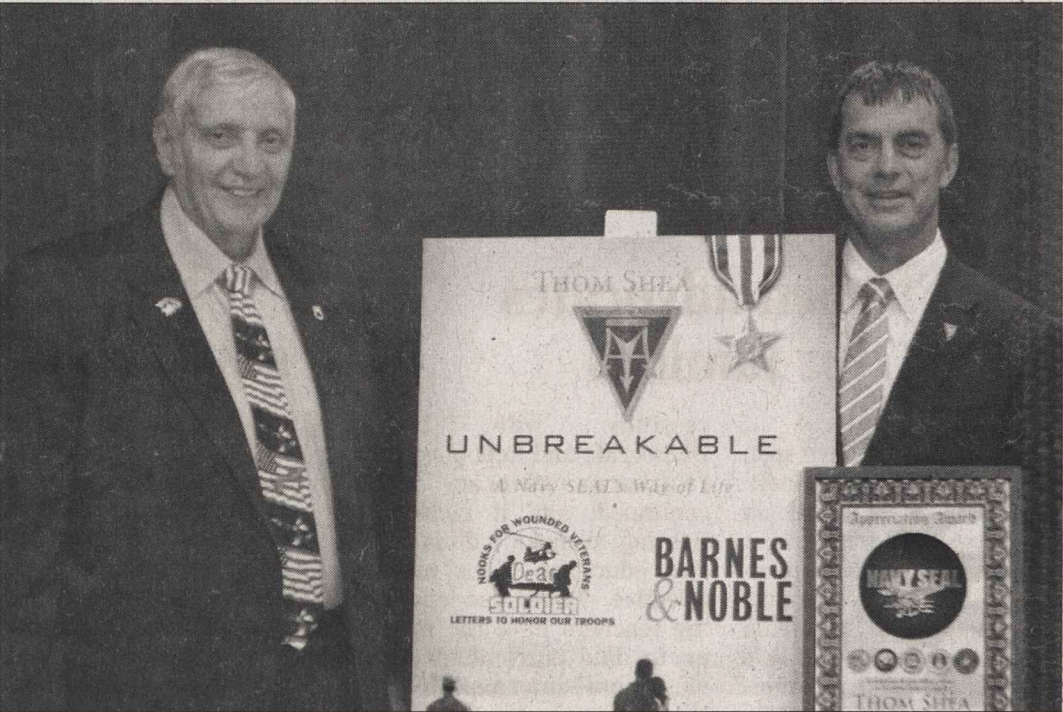

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) states that as a consumer, it's your responsibility to educate yourself about your rights and to shop around and gather as much information as you can before making a purchase. By doing so, you are able to make the purchase process easier by knowing exactly what you need, how much your budget is, and what you will be responsible for.

Once you have thoroughly researched the product or service and are ready to buy, be sure to ask about return and refund policies, associated fees, warranties or guarantees, and all policies or procedures. It's important to also ask for and keep any receipts, estimates or contracts that you receive in case of an issue in the future.

- review the product, seller and/or business. Make sure that the business is licensed if necessary.
- Get it in writing. Get a written copy of guarantees, warranties, refund and cancellation policies and any verbal promises. Be sure written documents cover everything discussed and include pricing.
- Read through the contract. Whether it be an estimate, bid, or contract, read the entire document. There may be disclosures about fees or refund policies that you're agreeing to. Once you sign a document, you have acknowledged the business' rules and policies and agree to abide by them.
- Know how warranties work. If you're paying for an extended warranty, find out who manages that warranty, if the extended warranty differs from the standard warranty, and how the business deals with claims made.
- Don't sign something you don't understand. Finally, if you have received a contract and you do not understand what you're signing, don't sign it. The business you're dealing with has the legal right to take action against you for breach of contract, so be sure to fully understand it.

BBB recommends these steps to become a smarter shopper:

- Do your research. Visit bbb.org to check out a business and read reviews or complaints. Carefully

We recently lost one of our town electricians, Dan Colanton. His death was sudden. Shame on the town hall and public buildings for not acknowledging him. Dan was a good friend and an excellent worker. He'll be missed.

No to rink purchase

Letters to the editor

L'Italien advocates for families

Dear Editor:

Over the years I have seen the tremendous and beneficial advancements made in autism services and care. I feel compelled to write a letter recognizing Barbara L'Italien for her leadership in this area and I would love to see her bring this leadership to the State Senate.

Barbara is a mother of four children, one of whom has autism. The experiences she gained as a mother, especially a mother of a child who required high levels of attention and therapeutic services, gave Barbara a unique perspective on the obstacles facing many families across Massachusetts. Barbara took these experiences to the State House and, as a State Representative, led the charge to expand health insurance to cover autism-related services. This expansion means families no longer face financial ruin as they seek out the care that will equip their children with the skills necessary to be successful adults. This new law never would have been possible had Barbara not been able to work successfully with both Democrats and Republicans.

Barbara's advocacy has continued, and it includes fighting to make individualized education plans more effective, while also ensuring teachers have the most up to date curriculum and classroom information to educate students with disabilities.

The financial and emotional toll that autism places on a family can be overwhelming. Parents take on multiple jobs, living paycheck to paycheck, just so their child can get the care they need. I know that this issue does not impact every family, but many families have had their lives changed in quite a remarkable way - much of it due to Barbara L'Italien's hard work. It is Barbara L'Italien's hard work that showed me what good government can really look like; and it's because of that hard work that I will be voting for her as our State Senator on November 4th. I hope you will join me.

Vispoli supports Veterans

Dear Editor,

I am writing this in support of Alex Vispoli for State Senate, to represent Lawrence, Andover, Dracut, Tewksbury.

As a US Army veteran, I have seen Alex's support of veterans first hand.

He has demonstrated his respect and support for our veterans.

Alex is a strong supporter of the Lawrence High School JROTC program. He has been one of our biggest supporters for over six years. Not only does Alex attend our annual formal graduation military ball, he continuously speaks with my cadets about the great jobs they do serving multiple communities. Alex always makes my cadets feel like they are truly making a difference in our community.

His private sector experience combined with his service in local government provides the perfect background to be our next State Senator.

Good paying jobs are needed for our area and Alex is the only candidate that has the qualifications to bring positive change to our district.

Support for Vispoli

Dear Editor,

How long must we wait to find real solutions for the problems we face in Massachusetts? Is it time to replace the out of control spenders? Will the repaired problems create new problems? Should that money be left in the hands of the taxpayers instead of the big spenders?

Alex Vispoli is a competent leader with a background that is necessary to lead us from the financial dangers that we face. Alex is honest, hardworking, educated, and served several years in elected office. He will offer suggestions that will help to avoid disasters.

We need new ideas by thinking people demanding solutions not simply raising our taxes during each and every crisis.

Alex is not searching for employment, he has a job.

It's not the money, Alex has a job, and Alex wants to fight for us. I have supported many great candidates that have led with pride and Alex is one of them.

•Alex would vote to lower our sales tax even though his opponent supported and voted to increase the sales tax by 25%.

•Alex would repeal per diems, yet his opponent took $19,394 to drive to and from the State House. Does your employer pay your per diem?

•We cannot continue to spend, spend, spend or we will end up in bankruptcy court. We need to return the proper ethics to Beacon Hill.

•Single party rule creates problems and seldom solves them.

•Alex needs our support and we need his.

Don Ordway,
Tewksbury

L'Italien for State Senate

Dear Editor,

I attended a recent presentation by Barbara L'Italien where Major Dan Rivera and Congresswoman Niki Tsongas enthusiastically endorsed her for election to the state senate. More than a candidate, Barbara presented herself as the next state senator from the 2nd Essex and Middlesex District. Her words, her demeanor, and her style spoke volumes about her past legislative experience, her demonstrated leadership, and her ability to get important legislative work done.

Barbara will attend an official bill signing ceremony at the request of the Governor. She is being recognized for her previous work in bringing together the needed votes to see vital legislation passed to improve the lives of autistic children and adults and to spur economic improvement in the City of Lawrence.

Her opponent does not hold a candle to her demonstrated experience and capabilities. Thus far, his campaign has attempted to gain recognition sully Barbara's reputation by capitalizing on an unfortunate aspect of a profoundly personal family matter. As a town official he has been unfriendly towards our public schools and has missed several opportunities to demonstrate leadership such as resolving the siting and construction of a new public works department and addressing the siting of a new fire station in Ballardvale.

Voters in Andover, Lawrence, Dracut, and Tewksbury, have the opportunity to elect a proven leader and well qualified candidate as our next State Senator. She will hit the legislative road running in January negotiating across the aisle to seek common ground for important legislation and to find the best solutions for problems affecting the citizens of the Commonwealth.

I urge you to vote on Tuesday, November 4, 2014 for Barbara L'Italien as our next state senator.

ual rather than addressing the problem.
Part of the problem, Mary told the Crier, is "the most abused drugs, [such as Oxycodone-based Oxycontin and Percocet] are too expensive. The potency is extremely high." The devastating part is that the addiction has already set in. It cannot be eradicated, and once it happens, whether the individual knows it or not, he or she is irreversibly addicted.
Heroin use is pervasive in a way tantamount to a quiet, yet deadly, virus. It is insidious. And it does not discriminate. Good, bad, young, old, addiction is a disease. It is often unknown to the potential addict that they will become addicted.
An article adapted from the National Institutes of Health, titled "How Addiction Happens: It's Not Just Poor Life Decisions," cuts through the stigma of addiction stating, "Addiction affects millions of Americans. It's not simply a failure of will or character; it is a disease of the brain."
Addiction is not a selective epidemic. It is real, and it's happening everywhere. Parents, kids, and the community at large, need to be on red alert. As more and more statistics come forth, it becomes clear that newspapers are filled with obituaries for really good young people, like Joshua, for whom funerals have been planned instead of college, weddings, children, futures.

While Wilmington has not been in the forefront, as there has been only one death due to heroin use since Joshua's death in 2013, there is a problem regionally according to Wilmington Police Lt. Brian Pupa. "We [the department] are working hard to try to provide assistance whenever possible for opiate addicted individuals."
Lt. Pupa said the department works with the Southern Middlesex Regional Drug Task Force, as well as with State Police and the Middlesex Sheriff's Department to ensure drugs and drug dealers do not permeate Wilmington and surrounding communities.
The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports in their Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report (MMWR) dated October 3, 2014 that "Combined mortality data from 28 states, encompassing 56% of the U.S. population, indicate an increasing problem with fatal overdoses from heroin from 2010 to 2012."

Mary told the Crier, "There are 17 year olds in this town who are shooting heroin. There are only two roads for you. It's jail or death. It's a decision you can't take back. It's final."
As Mary stated in her letter to Joshua entitled 'It's Been a Year', "Death is NOT a solution to addiction. Neither is Jail. Jails are not treatment centers. Yet, jails are full of addicts. We as a society have to do better. Addicts are not disposable. They matter. They are human beings. They deserve a future. We need to fix this. We can't just turn our backs and let people die. It isn't right. We as a society need to stop ignoring this and thinking it will happen to someone else."

Denial is not helping the problem. Often parents turn a blind eye thinking their child would never partake, but all are vulnerable. Awareness must be raised. As Mary pointed out, "A lot of kids, you can see them drifting." She told the Crier of Joshua, "Every wrong thing he did was fueled by his addiction."
On Friday, October 31st The Knight of Columbus in Wilmington will host a fundraiser in Joshua's name in support of the organization that gave Mary and Joshua their lives back, as mother and son, the Phoenix House.

When all seemed to be lost, Mary fought hard to make her voice heard for her son. Phoenix House, a non-profit organization, strives to help addicts recover, to regain their lives, and they did that for Joshua, if only for a short time.
After six detoxifications and a day program in Boston, where Joshua took the train every day to get help, Phoenix House in Springfield, MA was the place where Joshua had the most success. After Joshua's death, staff from the Phoenix House drove all the way from Springfield to hand Mary Joshua's 6 month chip, a reminder of his strength and hard work.
Joshua tried hard to kick the addiction. He made the effort to save his own life, but he could not fight against what had taken over his body. "This isn't a kid who didn't try to get clean. He tried to detox. He didn't want to be addicted either."

This is the 'one more time' that more and more of our community and others that children are falling prey to, when it becomes 'the last time.' Joshua talked to his girlfriend, opened up his laptop to watch a movie and never woke up. The hope is that by building awareness, we can wake up for our children, for all of the community, and for Joshua Giroux and other wonderful kids who, as Josh's mother pointed out so poignantly, "are not disposable."

said, "I'd like to commend all the state and town officials for helping to bring this project to fruition. I'd also like to thank MassDOT for their commitment to improving transportation through projects like these. We look forward to the completion of this project and restoring safety for all who travel through this area of our town."

While this is encouraging, there is still a requirement for the state to look at bids. The deadline for bids is January 2015. Town Manager Jeffrey Hull told the Crier, "It's certainly favorable that the project is out for bid. The key piece is for the bids to come in" and that the press release is "certainly a good sign."

Mr. Hull added, "The real key will be when we get a real contract and plans are made for construction."
The estimated total cost for the project is $1.7 million and construction is anticipated to begin in spring 2015. This project is advertised for construction on MassDOT's website at www.massdot.state.ma.us/

cation they need. I find no problems with those who take another tack, but it's a bad system."

Sears told the panel "I think we've got it as right as we can do with MCAS. Now with the Common Core curriculum, the philosophical aspect is local control. Massachusetts and Tewksbury standards are fine and we need to move away from cookie cutter programs."

When the discussion turned to a new high-pressure transmission pipeline proposed to run through Tewksbury and Wilmington to mitigate the rising price of natural gas and the problems caused by last year's polar vortex, Sears said, "Any pipeline should cause as little disruption as possible, but we do need heat and we do need power. We have a need." Miceli agreed saying, "We do need the energy, obviously. We need to settle on a route that is compatible for everyone."

The debate became heated when the candidates were asked if legislators should continue to receive pensions, given the state's budget problems. Miceli stated, "I would give away my pension tomorrow," but added, "We're fine tuning it, but the bottom line is no."

Sears disagreed, stating that legislators "should not be getting a pension." At that point, Miceli asked Sears, without the benefit of a microphone, "Are you getting a state pension from a job you got fired from?" The moderator offered Sears an opportunity to respond, but he declined.

When asked about the issue of the underfunded state mental health budget, Miceli cited his work for Tewksbury Hospital, saying, "I am the biggest supporter." Sears who served 12 years on the board of trustees, said that the hospital was "second to none" however qualified that taxpayers should not just be supporting state facilities only, and that people can be taken care of in their homes."

Each candidate felt that they could work with a governor from an opposing party.

"There are people who cause problems and there are people who want to fix them," said Sears, adding that he supports Charlie Baker. Miceli said, "I have worked with Charlie Baker and the Attorney General. I think I can hit the ground running, and I have never, ever compromised my principles."

Other issues on the table included a casino, gun laws, and abortion. The group Mass Citizens for Life has characterized both candidates as Pro-Life. Miceli voted to allow protesters near the buffer zones of abortion clinics so that the protesters and those who are pro-choice could "talk to each other." Sears was somewhat on the fence saying that although he is pro-life, "Abortion should be safe, legal and rare. People should not be harassed. I respect the law of the land."

When asked what each candidate admired about the other, Sears immediately answered for Miceli, "His tenacity." For Miceli's part he just said, "No comment." Someone in the audience then blurted out, "No class" while others groaned.

More barbs were exchanged when the question around funding to facilitate improvements alone route 38 in Tewksbury was posed. Miceli answered, "It's a bond issue. I want to see the financial responsibility become reality."

Sears countered, "You had 37 years to get this right and it hasn't been done yet."

Miceli replied, "I have a list of all the things I have accomplished, and not by osmosis," and adding, "We had a [Department of Transportation] meeting earlier [to discuss plans for route 38], and you weren't there."

Sears told Miceli, "I wasn't invited. Talk is cheap and performance rules."

Trip or Treat?

How to avoid falls and other accidents this Halloween

SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

Witches and vampires aren't the only scary things you may encounter this All Hallows' Eve. Trips, falls, scraps, and burns are some of the frightful things doctors see in the ER, but you can easily avoid a scary visit to the hospital with a few of these safety tips.

Use street smarts

Be visible to motorists - from all angles. Use reflective tape on the front and back of costumes and trick-or-treat bags. Use glow sticks. Adults need to be visible too, so make sure to bring a flashlight with fresh batteries.

Avoid jaywalking. Pedestrians are at risk between intersections. Especially after dark. Use sidewalks or cross at corners whenever possible. Don't assume you have the right of way when crossing the street.

Drivers, pay attention. Remember this Halloween to slow down - in particular, at intersections and when backing out of driveways. Excited children tend to dart out in front of or behind cars. Lessen distractions and put down the cell phone.

Costumes

The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends non-toxic makeup and costumed hats as a safer alternative to masks which can obstruct vision. A mask may seem very important to a younger child; remind him or her it is more important to see clearly and avoid falls.

Costumes should fit properly without loose or trailing pieces that could snag on sharp decorations and cause a child to trip and fall. Accessories such as swords should be constructed of foam or soft material. Make sure shoes fit well and laces are tied.

The Bureau of Family Health and Nutrition, Mass Public Health Blog recommends that parents purchase costumes and accessories labeled flame retardant, which means it is chemically treated to resist catching fire.

Make sure to check the weather before heading out. You may need to pack rain coats, scarves and most importantly - mittens - as little hands get cold when temperatures drop. If your children balk at the idea of wearing a coat over their costumes, thermal tops and underwear are a good alternative.

Decoration: No trips, just treats please.

If you're receiving trick-or-treaters this year, make sure to clean up walkways and keep them well lit. On Halloween, it's common for children to walk across lawns, so removing obstacles such as garden hoses, toys, and loose items on the ground will help prevent injuries.

Use the porch light so children don't have to guess whether or not to approach your home. Sweep wet leaves off porch

"If zombies chase us, I'm tripping you" is the sentiment on this team of walkers and runners shirts at the 1st ever Tewksbury Zombie 5K race and walk. steps.

Use battery-operated candles or tea lights in pumpkins to eliminate fire hazards. Large groups of children can easily knock over any decoration with real flames.

Treats

Have children eat dinner prior to trick-or-treating. Start their treat bags off with a small bottle of water so they can stay hydrated.

With the prevalence of food allergies - one in thirteen children in the United States according to Food, Allergy, Research and Education (FARE) - the organization initiated the Teal Pumpkin Project which raises awareness of food allergies. By painting and displaying a teal-colored pumpkin, trick-or-treaters know you are providing safe, non-food treats such as pens, pencils or stickers.

All candy should be inspected by an adult before it is eaten.

Stranger Danger

Safety experts agree: children ages 12 and under need adult supervision on Halloween. Children should be reminded not to talk to strangers, not to approach cars with strangers, and not to enter strangers' homes.

Tewksbury Police Chief Timothy B. Sheehan issued a press release, "Tips for Safe Trick-or-Treating" which recommends going only to homes where you or your friends know the residents.

Older children who find it tempting to wear more risqué costumes on Halloween should be reminded that this sometimes attracts unwanted attention or unsafe consequences.

Be aware of your surroundings

All children should trick-or-treat in groups and in well-lit neighborhoods they know.

Older children without adult supervision should have charged cell phones and let adults know which neighborhoods they are visiting.

Be aware, use common sense, and save the real fright for Halloween.

This year, Halloween falls on Friday, October 31, 2014. Tewksbury town hall officials confirmed trick-or-treating hours are from 6 - 8 p.m. Wilmington does not have set hours, however trick-or-treating "typically takes place between 6-8 p.m." said a town hall employee.

Breaking Green Art Show, October 23

Beyond Benign and the Warner Babcock Institute for Green Chemistry, and local artist Carolyn Parello, in conjunction with the Lowell Center for Sustainable Production at UMass Lowell proudly announce the Breaking Green Art Show, opening Thursday, October 23, 2014 from 6pm-8:30pm at Beyond Benign and the Warner Babcock Institute facility, 100 Research Drive, Wilmington, MA.

To celebrate National Chemistry Week and Halloween, this event will showcase Parello's collection of monster paintings and promote Beyond Benign's mission of green chemistry and sustainable science education.

Breaking Green refers to the reversal of the chemistry process, turning harmful practices into naturally responsible ones that advance a cleaner future. Beyond Benign's co-founder John C. Warner, the 2014 recipient of the Perkins Medal for outstanding contributions to industrial chemistry as well as the co-author of the 12 Principles of Green Chemistry, is pleased to bring the disciplines of art and science together for this one-of-a-kind event.

In line with the Breaking Green theme, Parello's colorful and fun-loving monsters are taking on the challenge of a "toxic turnaround." They have seen the light, and they are going green, too.

Parello will debut her clever Monsterpiece collection of 19 large and powerful paintings. The artist's monsters were inspired by her childhood love of watching Creature Features in black and white on Saturday nights while her cousin lurked in the background trying very hard to scare her.

Viewing Parello's Monsterpieces transports you back to your childhood, experiencing the nostalgia of Monsters which have been re-crafted with a humorous twist. Parello's work is like going to an amusement park: her large, vibrant canvases pop off the wall and draw you in. The collection of lively monsters includes water skiing mummies, werewolf cannon balls, colorful cemeteries, fun funerals, and hearses driving through McDonalds for their final Happy Meal.

Through the Breaking Green Art Show, Parello has embraced the opportunity to use her art to support a great educational cause. Beyond Benign is dedicated to providing scientists, educators and citizens with the tools to teach and learn about green chemistry in order to create a sustainable future.

Breaking Green's opening reception will include a silent auction to benefit this educational mission. Items contributed by local and national sponsors include a hockey stick signed by the Boston Bruins and tickets to a Boston Celtics game. Ms. Parello will donate her painting of Boston's Zakim Bridge to the cause, www.Charitybuzz.com.

The silent auction will open on the web on the evening of the opening, October 23rd and close on October 27th. 100% of the proceeds from the auction will go to Beyond Benign's educational programs.

In addition, Parello and Beyond Benign have teamed up with the Lowell Center for Sustainable Production at UMass Lowell to bring forward the "Greener Studio Challenge" competition. The Challenge is geared towards college art and chemistry students to green up art materials and showcase sustainability themed art. Students from across New England will be invited to submit their work by March 31, 2015. The winners' work will be displayed in Lowell in April of 2015.

The Greener Studio Challenge, part of a larger effort to "green" the visual arts, is sponsored by Beyond Benign, the Toxic Use Reduction Institute, Troublefield~nyc and the University of Massachusetts Lowell with the financial support from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

BBB Tip: Most Dangerous Celebrities

What is Click Baiting? "Click baiting" is a way to get someone's attention online. Many advertisers use it, but so do scammers. They engage with potential identity theft victims by offering something that is too intriguing to ignore: messages claiming new videos, "shocking" information or scandalous news on celebrities, newsmakers and other famous people.

Many consumers are unaware of the risks that exist when searching for celebrity and entertainment news. Often, the click bait leads to a sketchy website or a link that downloads malware on the user's computer or smartphone.

The Most Dangerous Celebrities

For the eighth year, security technology company McAfee has identified the "Most Dangerous Celebrities" whose names and images are most widely used by scammers as click bait. The riskiest personalities on the Web are:

Jimmy Kimmel (comedian, actor, talk show host)

Armin van Buuren (Dutch DJ and music producer)

Ciara (singer-songwriter, dancer, Grammy winner)

Flo Rida (rapper, People's Choice award winner)

Bruce Springsteen (rock legend, 20 Grammys, Rock and Roll Hall of Fame)

Blake Shelton (country singer, judge on The Voice, husband of Miranda Lambert)

Britney Spears (pop singer, former child actor)

Jon Bon Jovi (singer-songwriter, philanthropist)

Chelsea Handler (comedian, writer, talk show host)

Christina Aguilera (pop singer, actress, Grammy winner)

What Consumers Can Do Consumers can do their part by being vigilant in practicing safe online behavior. BBB and McAfee recommend the following:

Don't download videos from suspect sites. Most news clips you'd want to see can easily be found on official video sites and don't require you to download anything.

Beware of clicking on third party links. You should access content directly from official websites of content providers. For example, visit ABC.com to find Jimmy Kimmel's latest episodes.

Always use password protection on your phone and other mobile devices. If you don't and your phone is lost or stolen, anyone who picks up the device could have access to your personal information online.

Using the cloud is like "using someone else's computer" - and some friends may have good security while others may not. Consumers should treat the cloud as any other asset that requires protecting.

Deming Way Sr. Housing Christmas Fair

The residents of Deming Way Low Income Senior Housing are holding their annual Christmas Fair on Saturday, November 8, 2014.

Those who have attended the fair in past years will find a lot of changes this year. There will be lots and lots of Christmas decorations of all kinds, many hand knitted and crocheted items, and more raffles.

The Christmas Craft Fair is the sole fund raising event each year. The money raised pays for busses for tenant trips and other activities at their Community Center, such as pot luck dinners, pizza parties and cookouts.

Deming Way and their Community Center is completely separate from the Wilmington Senior Center; even though, as residents of Wilmington, tenants are able to use the Senior Center and take advantage of the activities there.

So, the tenants association is asking for donations from local businesses to assist them in filling the raffle table of the Christmas Fair with items consisting of gift certificates and/or product from their store.

The raffle table is always the biggest money-maker at the fair. If you are able to make any donation to the fair, the residents of Deming Way will be most appreciative.

In July, residents of Wilmington were asked to volunteer to make hand-made items for sale at our fair. Several residents volunteered with hand-crafted items. If you were one of the people who offered to help us, now is the time to call and let us know if those items need to be picked up, or if you can deliver them to the Tenant Association President's apartment.

Please call to make arrangements for pick-up or delivery. You may call Charlotte Guthrie at 978-658-4749 so that she can make those arrangements.

The residents would also like to say thank you to the town, the businesses, and the People of Wilmington for their continued support of the residents of Deming Way. We at Deming Way really appreciate your con-

Schultz enrolls at Eastern Connecticut State University

Eastern Connecticut State University recently released its list of newly enrolled students for the fall 2014 semester. Rebecca Schultz of Wilmington, MA, is attending Eastern this fall. Schultz's major is Visual Arts.

"We are pleased that Rebecca has decided to attend Eastern and has the opportunity to experience the benefits of our liberal arts education while enjoying student life on our beautiful campus," said Ned Harris, director of enrollment management. Harris notes that Eastern freshmen come from 164 of Connecticut's 169 towns, from 24 other states and from 50 other countries.

Founded in 1889 as a two-year normal school training elementary schoolteachers for jobs in Connecticut schools, Eastern has grown to become a comprehensive, master's degree-granting institution of approximately 5,300 students recognized by such publications as U.S.

News and World Report and the Princeton Review.

Approximately 60 percent of students live on campus, enjoying the small classes, more than 70 clubs, and vibrant campus culture found at Eastern. Focusing on undergraduate education, the University combines a strong liberal arts curriculum with experiential learning opportunities - internships, student research and community service - to prepare graduates for successful careers in a variety of professional fields.

Eastern Connecticut State University is the state's public liberal arts university and serves approximately 5,300 students each year on its Willimantic campus and at satellite locations.

Eastern offers more than 30 majors and 50 minors while emphasizing a strong liberal arts foundation grounded in applied learning experiences. For more information, visit www.easternct.edu.

Wilmington resident Megan Stone is ...

The best young referee in the state

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiapote@hotmail.com

Many times adversity or in this case a sports injury, can turn into a life-changing ordeal. And that's just what happened to Wilmington resident Megan Stone.

Five years ago she hurt her knee playing hockey which ultimately ended her sports career both on the ice and on the soccer field.

Two years after that happened, she wanted a job and instead of going to Market Basket, she elected to join her younger sister and becoming a youth soccer official. Since that decision was made, Stone has made quite the impact not only within the town, but in the state.

In fact this past week she was named the US Youth Soccer Young Referee of the Year.

She won't receive her award until December 7th at the Massachusetts Youth Soccer Annual Banquet held in Leominster, but until then the 18-year-old senior student at Austin Prep High School, can enjoy this incredible accomplishment.

"Thursday night I was doing my French homework and I got an email saying I was named the Massachusetts Youth Referee of the Year and I thought it was a joke," she said. "It was very exciting. I had never imagined that I would be nominated for it, let alone win it."

"I have only been doing it for three years and didn't think I stood out. To be honest, I was satisfied with not standing out. I like what I do and I don't do it for recognition or money."

In order to be nominated for the award, one must meet certain requirements and criteria, including being a Certified Federation Referee for at least two years, and not turning 19 before August 1st. In addition, each nominee had to excel in three areas: Personal Development, Promoting the Game and Involvement in the Community.

Wilmington Youth Soccer Board Member Tom Genthner was the one who nominated Stone and explained how she met all of those standards.

"Through her involvement in soccer Megan has grown to become a very confident person, player and referee," he said in his letter of recommendation. "Soccer has helped build her strong character and it has helped her overcome challenges from vocal, unruly spectators and coaches to refereeing as many as six games one hot summer day during a tournament at the Massachusetts' Youth Soccer complex in Lancaster this past summer."

"Megan strives to uphold the highest ethical and moral standards as a person, player, referee and coach. She is a great example to the U12 Girls team she helps coach and her fellow youth referees. She works hard to learn more about the game and becoming a better referee."

"The relationships she has built with peers, referee coordinators and assignors have helped drive her deep knowledge of refereeing, especially for someone so young. She solicits and accepts constructive feedback and accepts any refereeing challenge including officiating many games in one day, helping mentor less experienced referees, and accepting every assignment with enthusiasm."

"She has often volunteered to ref more games if needed even when she already had a heavy load of games that day."

Besides her integrity and work ethic as a youth official, Stone excels outside of soccer as well. For the past five years she has served as a volunteer with the Wilmington Recreation Department's Tiny Tots program, including 44 hours over the six-week program this past year. She also volunteers as a CCD Teacher on Sunday nights, and works with her mother's company, mostly filing documents.

Genthner went on to explain that "Megan also participates in a team building program called Destination Imagination where each team is given a challenge and they complete the challenge through teamwork and structure building. In 2011, her team tackled the Community Outreach challenge in which they created 'Kits for a Cause', where they created emergency kits for the elderly within Wilmington. The team won first place at their state tournament and went on to participate in the global tournament in Tennessee."

But it's on the soccer field where she feels the most comfortable.

"Since becoming an official, I have grown to love what I do," said Stone, who is the oldest of three daughters to Jeff and Maureen Griffin-Stone with sisters Jamie 15 and Katie 11. "I don't see it as a job anymore, but something I really enjoy. I am anxious all week, waiting for Saturday. I like everything about refereeing. I like the new people I meet. I have made friends with all of the people I have worked with and several of them I see outside of work."

"The thing I like most about it though is probably not knowing what I am going to do until I get out there. I have learned not to classify a game as an easy or boring game until after it's done and reported. Even the lower age groups and divisions have proven to be challenging. Those are my favorite games because those games are exciting and stimulating."

"I also enjoy the fast-paced games and the games where I have been on my toes, because I am in charge and I can't lose control."

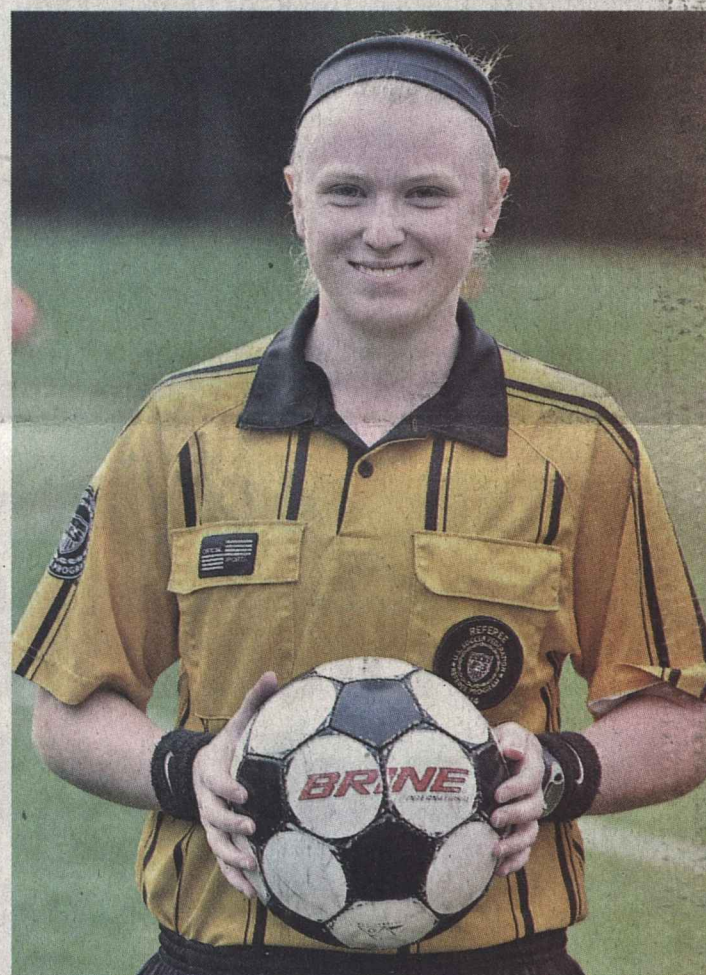

Stone has officiated all levels of youth soccer, including Under 19 Boys Games. She said it doesn't matter, the age, gender of games or whether it's one game on a Saturday or doing a handful all day long, she is full of pride and joy everytime she puts on the yellow jersey and grabs her whistle.

"Words can't describe how much pride I feel when I put my yellow shirt on at the field," she said. "I am part of a different team now. I was part of the team that, as a player, I was taught to hate but now, I can't imagine myself doing anything else. I could never quit (and stop officiating). I don't need an award to remind me what this means to me. It has taught me so much and I really can't imagine how different my life would be without it and all of the people I have met."

"The soccer field is no longer a place I dread going to, but one I can't wait to be at. Somebody once asked me how far I was planning on taking refereeing and I said as far as it will take me and then a little bit further because I don't give up easily."

Genthner added that people and officials like Stone are few and far between.

"Megan is a very special person and a great example to other youth referees in Wilmington and beyond," he said. "She is very conscientious and responsible, and is always striving to become a better person and better referee. There is no youth referee more deserving of this award. She has been a pleasure and a joy to have in my pool of referees."

The Wilmington GU9-2 travel team played an exciting game Saturday against Reading. The team's strong play and never quit attitude resulted in a 1-0 win and the team's fifth shutout of the season. A well-deserved pig pile was in order. On and in the pile are: Madelynn Sainato, Keira Rice, Lauryn Par, Lindsay Anthony, Patricia Stevens, Emma Flynn, Jess Martinson, Paige Fuller, Molly Walsh, Nicole Morello and Alexia Engvaldsen. Golfers end tough season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The Wilmington High Golf team wrapped up their season this past week. Unfortunately for the Wildcats their season finished much the way it had gone for the balance of it, as the team suffered a 46-26 loss to Stoneham at Bear Hill Country Club last Wednesday.

With the loss, the Wildcats finished their season with an overall record of 2-12 (2-8 in Middlesex Freedom). Wilmington was scheduled to take on Belmont last Thursday, but the match was postponed due to rain and was not made up.

"Obviously our record was not what we were hoping for at the start of the season, particularly with so many returning players, but a lot of things just did not go our way," Wilmington coach Steve Lynch said. "Unfortunately we fell short of our goal of qualifying for tournament."

The Wildcats will lose six seniors off of this year's squad, including number one player and team captain Joey Marino, along with fellow seniors Joseph Hydorn, Colin Kennedy, Andrew Lobao, Chris Sartori and Glenn Sullivan.

While losing the veteran players could certainly make things even harder next season for the Wildcats, Lynch is looking forward to seeing what some of the younger players can bring to the course.

Some of the players Lynch will be counting on will include junior Jonathan Parella, sophomore Steven Labao and freshmen Daniel Gracia and William McEvoy as well as a host of others whom Lynch is hoping will continue to work on their game in the off season.

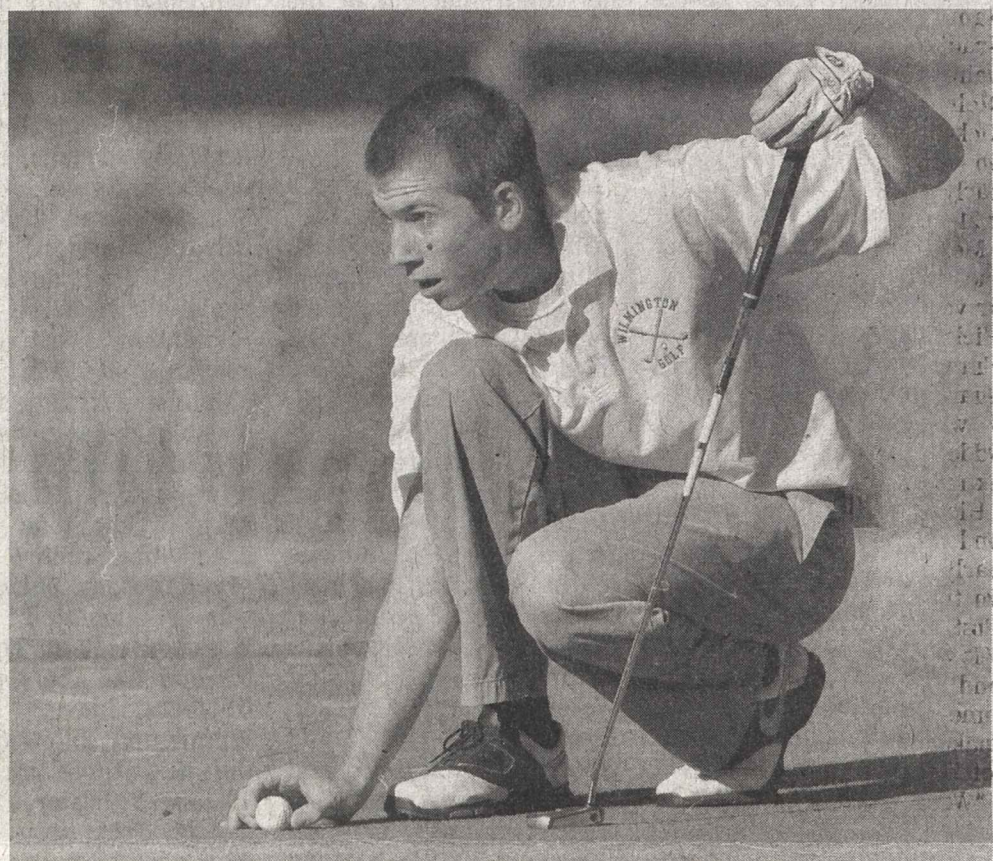

"We've got a very young team going into next year, so hopefully we can turn things around next year and into the foreseeable future with some of these young guys," Lynch said.

WHS Round-Up

Both soccer teams win small school crowns

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

It was a great week for the WHS Boys Soccer team. The Wildcats blanked Melrose 3-0 last Wednesday and then shut out Wakefield 2-0 on Friday night which includes qualifying for the state tournament for the 13th time in 14 years under head coach Steve Scanlon.

Then on Tuesday night, the Wildcats ended in a 1-1 tie with Watertown and that was enough to give the team its third straight Middlesex League Division 2 league title.

The 2-0-1 week puts the team's record at 8-2-6 overall and extends the team's unbeaten streak to 12 games. The two shut out wins also gives the team ten donuts on the season.

In the win over Melrose, Brian Cavanaugh scored what turned out to be the game winning goal in the 13th minute coming off a throw-in by Evan Raffi. Brad Priem and Justin Leger added single goals and the combination of Ryan Horgan and Connor Zaya kept the Wilmington net clean.

In the win over Wakefield, Ryan Kinsella scored on a penalty kick at the 22nd minute and then Kevin Goncalves added the second goal in the 58th minute on an assist from Matt Spurr.

In the tie with Watertown, Ryan Kinsella scored the team's lone goal in the 30th minute on a set up from Pat McFall.

Wilmington has outscored its opponents 23-11, while eight different players have scored at least one point.

Wilmington will conclude its regular season with two home games, Thursday afternoon at the North against Malden in a non-league game and then with Stoneham on Monday night at the high school.

Look in next week's edition for much more on the team's league title and qualification for the state tournament.

GIRLS SOCCER

The Lady 'Cats also had a tremendous week, winning all three games despite battling some injuries. Wilmington defeated Melrose 2-1, Wakefield 1-0 and Watertown 3-1 improving the team's record to 12-0-4.

The team has two games left, Stoneham on Saturday and Shawsheen Tech at home on Tuesday night with hopes of ending the season unbeaten, which would be the first time in program history.

In the win over Melrose, Casey McFall and Kayla McCauley had a goal and assisted on each other's to lead the offense. McCauley's goal came in the 15th minute of the second half to unleash a 1-1 tie.

Defender Jamie Spinazola and striker Samantha Pitzi played well, said Coach Sue Hendee.

In the 1-0 win over Wakefield, Liz Gordon played great on defense in front of goalie Kellie Souza who made seven saves for her tenth shut out of the season.

McCauley scored the lone goal coming at the 23rd minute, her sixth goal of the season.

Madison Knibbs played a great game at midfield.

On Tuesday afternoon, Wilmington topped Watertown 3-1. Alexa Papastathis scored in the third minute of the game on an assist from McFall. Then in the 36th minute, Isabella Granara scored on an assist from Amber Peach.

Then with ten minutes left in the game, Peach set up McFall who scored her fifth goal of the season.

Wilmington outshot Watertown 15-3 and Hendee said that Dana Goulet at midfield and Lindsay Amazeen on defense played well.

"We are a little beat up from two tough games last week, and had four girls out with injuries," she said. "Hopefully they will be back for the Stoneham game or Shawsheen Tech game."

Wilmington has outscored its opponents 33-6 this season while nine different players have scored at least one goal and 12 players have scored at least one point.

Look in next week's edition for much more on their soccer team's magical season.

England and Argentina teams match up on the youth soccer field

Girls Grade 1

England vs. Argentina

England and Argentina kicked off for a spirited match. England's scoring was led by Summer Sands. The Argentina team was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Maddie Gryglik, Katherine Hughes, and Lily McLaughlin.

Argentina's defense was also showing their skills today with Leah Langone, Gabriella Latson, Olivia Saragosa keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game, while the back line of Gianna Demedeiros and Maeve White kept this game close.

Boys Grade 1

Germany vs. Mexico

The air was full of excitement as the much-anticipated match between Germany and Mexico commenced. Fantastic ball skill were displayed by Ryan Belanger and Alexander D'Anna. The midfield and defensive play of Tyler Mathew and Gavin Churchill kept Germany in excellent shape.

The crowd roared to their feet when Gavin Dong made some spectacular saves.

Spain vs. USA

Nobody stayed home for this action packed game. Spain's offense - led by Colin Allard, Quinn Stockman and Noah Titterton - set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Luke Kitanov, Owen Mahoney, and Reiley Young provided great protection in front of the net.

Korea vs. England

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as Team Korea led by the offensive skills of Jack Martinson and Cameron Thompson created scoring opportunities for Nicolas Spinosa and Jon Mehr. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Kevin Pruslin, Nico Krause and Owen Fitzpatrick kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

The WHS Girls Cross Country team got into the win column with a 25-30 victory over Stoneham on Tuesday. The Spartans had the top overall finisher before the 'Cats took the next three spots led by Jackie Ryan (22:41), Maeve Sullivan (22:51) and Elisabeth Olson (23:51), who all took on a very challenging course. Stacy Robichaud was seventh overall and then Emily Monteforte was 9th at 25:55 which sealed the win.

"It was nice to get a win to reward a lot of hard work by the team," said coach Tom Bradley.

Last Tuesday, Wilmington was defeated by Watertown, 18-40. The Red Raiders had the top four finishers before Wilmington followed with the next three including Elizabeth Olson (20:32), Jackie Ryan (20:42) and Maeve Sullivan (20:49).

"These three have been our best runners and have finished very close to each other all season," said Bradley.

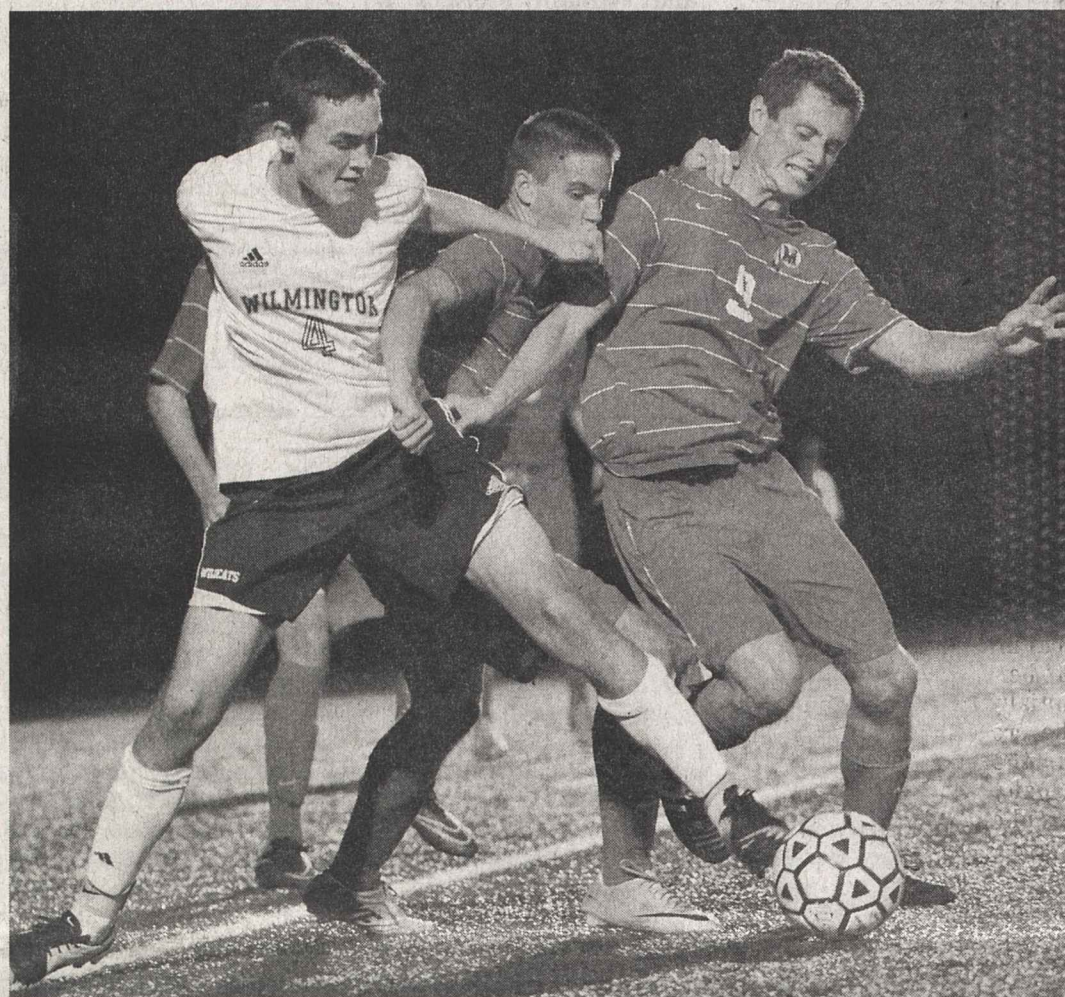

Stacy Robichaud was 10th overall at 22:42.

"Stacy has come along very well and should be even better next year," said Bradley.

Emily Monteforte came in at 23:00, followed by Annie Romanzo at 23:51 and Kate McNeil in 24:28.

beating Stoneham, 22-33.

"Two miles into the race, it was extremely close and it looked as if we were going to edge past them by only a point," said coach Brian Schell. "Chris Maienza then took the lead and finished first place over all with a time of 18:18. He has been looking better and better every day and has performed very well these last couple of meets.

"I am impressed with how tough he has been and sticking with the top runners and eventually out kicking them at the end. He has progressed extremely well so far this season and looks to have a solid finish these last three meets."

Finishing behind him included Conor Bailey (3rd, 19:26), Kevin Dunn (4th, 19:29), Dan Bell (6th, 19:56), Jason Dunn (7th, 20:15) and Andrew Hanlon (15th, 23:35).

"This was the last dual meet of the season, and going out with a victory felt good," said Schell. "The team as a whole has put in a lot of hard work and mileage and it has finally paid off. Not only has each kid been running exceptionally well for themselves and showing great consistency, they are poised to finally push for their goals and set new personal records by the end of the season."

Wilmington's BU10-1 youth soccer team had a great showing at the North Andover Columbus Day Tournament winning all four games. The opponents were North Andover, Chelmsford, Andover and Topsfield. The team includes from left, head coach Mike Fischer, Michael Lewis, Evan Pinto, Jonathan Magliozzi, Dillon McGrath, Jacob Roque, Eric Fischer, Ryan Thomas, Nathan Alberti, Jared Bishop, Ryan Wilson, and Assistant Coach Scott Thomas. The air was full of excitement on this stellar fall morning, as the much-anticipated match between England and Portugal commenced. Fantastic ball-handling skills were displayed by Makena Lowell, Kyra Turner, Lilliann Brooks, and Kiersten Moore resulting in goals by Gracie Berrier and Kiley Bloom.

The midfield play of Kayla Mason and Lia Price kept England in excellent shape. The crowd roared to their feet when Chloe Houser and Caylee Konradt made spectacular saves to keep the match close.

Indeed, top-notch play kept people watching this one. Excellent offensive plays on the Portugal side by Callie McCauley, Alyssa Costantiello and Molly Lydon applied heavy pressure which caused England to back pedal and which led to goals by Skylar Driscoll, Madison Fenton and Alexandra Malley.

Defensive positioning by Isabella Hart and Emma Alworth fended off any threat that came through - making it tough for England. Abigail Mitchell and Ivonne Airoso also played a great game in net, keeping the game in hand.

Boys Grade 2

England vs. Germany Team Germany was impressive from the opening whistle and great ball skills from the likes of Kaleb Molina, Zach Guyette, Patrick Lee and Lincoln Levesque reminded everyone why they are such a powerhouse. Anchoring the defense was Nicolas Juliano alongside Layne Coutue, Shivam Purohit and Mathew Newhouse.

Outstanding goalkeeping displays by Derek Sun and Andrew Konradt kept England's potent offense in check.

Carroll Sisters continue to cause havoc on soccer fields several local women's soccer stars led the way at the college level this week.

Colby Sawyer senior defender Heather Carroll celebrated Senior Day last Saturday by helping the Chargers to their sixth straight shutout victory. The tri-captain and her defensive mates have allowed a total of three goals in their past eight games on their way to a 9-5-1 overall record and a perfect 7-0-0 mark in the NAC.

Heather's sister Kim Carroll, a senior at Fitchburg State University, has continued to play well this season, even as the Falcons have struggled at times on their way to a 3-11-1 record. Kim has started in ten of the Falcons 15 games and played in 13 games overall.

The third member of the Carroll trio, Wentworth sophomore forward Kristen Carroll scored her first goal of the season last Thursday in a 4-0 win over Framingham State. Carroll scored the Leopards second goal of the game in the 43rd minute of the first half. Wentworth is now 6-6-2 on the season.

Dean College sophomore Arianna Medeiros had a big game for the Bulldogs last Wednesday in a 3-1 win over Becker College, with two goals and one assist to help lead her team to victory. Medeiros now has six goals and two assists on the season.

Franklin Pierce sophomore forward Nicole Chaet scored her second goal of the season last Saturday in a 3-0 win over LeMoyne. Chaet's goal in the 66th minute came off her own rebound, as she initially rang a header off the crossbar before scoring on the rebound from the penalty area.

Sophomore midfielder Alexa Poulin had an assist in a 2-1 loss to St. Michael's last Wednesday. It was the second assist three games for Poulin, who has started all 14 games this season for the PenMen.

In football action, Anna Maria College junior Chris Bettano rushed for 79 yards and also had an 18-yard reception in the Amcats 40-12 loss to Maritime (N.Y.) last Saturday. It was the first time in the Amcats six games this season that Bettano, who has seven touchdowns on the season, has been kept out of the end zone.

RPI junior defensive back Brad Gahagan had six tackles and a quarterback sack for the Engineers in a 34-20 loss to Rochester last Saturday.

Salem State sophomore forward Natalie Bourne had a goal for the Vikings Field Hockey team in a 2-1 loss to Plymouth State last Saturday. It was the third goal of the season for Bourne, and her second in her past three games.

Worcester State freshman Hayley Sutherland continues to contribute to the Lancers

HAYLEY SUTHERLAND

Field Hockey team. In her first year of collegiate play Sutherland has started all 15 of her team's games and helped them to a 9-6 record to this point in the season.

In tennis action, Salem State captain April

McDermott had a big weekend for the Vikings. The junior won three of her four matches on the weekend as the Vikings went 1-1 on the weekend.

In a 5-4 loss to Rhode Island College last Saturday McDermott was victorious in her doubles match along with partner Jennifer Cleary by a score of 8-5. The next day, in a 7-2 win over Western Connecticut State, McDermott won her singles match by a score of 6-1, 6-1 and once again captured her doubles match by the same 8-5 score.

In volleyball, Worcester State senior Ali Remigio had three kills, two digs and two blocks for the Lancers Volleyball team in a 3-1 loss to Framingham State last Saturday. This came on the heels of a five kill effort in a 3-0 win over Anna Maria last Thursday. Worcester State is now 19-5 on the season.

Finally in cross country, Villanova junior Leanne Tucker competed in the Women's Open Race at the Princeton Invitational last Saturday and finished fourth among all Villanova runners and 15th overall in a field of 302 runners in a time of 23:27.

WILMINGTON

Some field hockey action kicks off the local college scene in Wilmington.

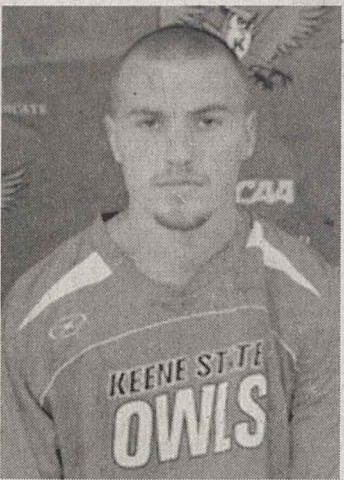

Becker College freshman Jocelyn Cornish collected her first collegiate point last Saturday, assisting on the only goal of the game in the Hawks 1-0 win over Bay Path. Cornish, who has started all but one game for the Hawks as a freshman this season, assisted on Sara Lego's goal at the 42:38 mark of the second half to provide the winning margin.

Several local athletes are also excelling on the pitch, starting with Kaitlyn Curley, who has started all 12 games for the Salem State Women's Soccer team this season as a freshman midfielder. The Vikings are 4-4-4 on the season.

Colby Sawyer soccer teammates Chris DiCecca and Zach Anderson both continue to play well for the Chargers, who have now won seven games in a row to improve to 10-4-1 on the season. The ten wins are the most for Colby Sawyer since the 2002 squad won 12 matches. The Chargers are also 6-1 in the NAC and stand alone in first place.

Keene State senior midfielder Nick Godzyk had an assist on the game winning goal for the Owls in their 2-1 win over Framingham State last Wednesday. Godzyk put a great shot on net that was stopped by the Framingham goalie, but teammate Riley Steele pounced on the rebound in the 82nd minute to give the Owls the lead and ultimately the victory.

Stonehill College senior goalie Adam Colella picked up the win in a 2-1 Skyhawks victory over AIC last Saturday. It was the third win in the past four games for the 2011 graduate of St. John's Prep.

Freshman Cassie Grasso continues to play well as a mid-fielder for the Curry Colonels, as a freshman she has played in all 15 games, the Colonels are currently having a great season, with an 11-4 record. Curry has not had ten wins since the 2008 season.

CASSIE GRASSO

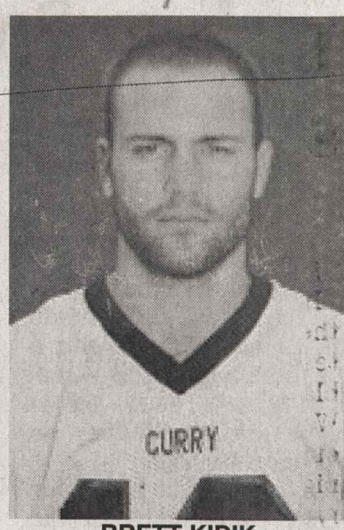

Maine Maritime sophomore defender Lauren McKenna scored her first goal of the season on Sunday in a 6-0 win over Pine Manor College. McKenna has started all 14 games for the Mariners this season, who have now won two games in a row to improve to 5-9 on the season.

Plymouth State freshman defender Adrianna Kippenberger continues to excel for the Panthers this season, having started 12 of her team's 14 games in her first season of collegiate play.

In cross country, Emerson College sophomore Savannah Hubbard finished fourth among all Emerson runners at the Saints Invitational at Emmanuel College last Saturday. Hubbard finished in a time of 23:12.

In football, Sean Hanley, a senior defensive back for Worcester State had a huge game last Saturday in a 50-43 win over UMass Dartmouth. The 2011 Wilmington High graduate had 14 tackles and 1 1/2 sacks for the Lancers, to go along with two tackles for loss and a forced fumble. Worcester State is now 4-2 on the season (2-3 in the MASCAC).

Also, Curry College junior quarterback Brett Kidik saw his first action of the season for the Colonels this past weekend, coming on in relief in the second half of a 49-6 loss to Salve Regina and going 8-for-12 for 110 yards and leading the Colonels to their only touchdown of the game with his first collegiate touchdown pass in the fourth quarter.

Finally, in volleyball, UMass Lowell sophomore Lauren Bennett had three kills for the River Hawks Volleyball team on Friday in a loss to Hartford and four kills on Sunday in a loss to Stony Brook. Bennett has played in 55 of 79 sets for the NCAA Division 1 River Hawks this season.

ROAD RACES

At the "Witch City 5K" in Salem Wilmington's Patty Figucia was 496th overall at 47:21. At the "3rd Annual Beverly Domestic Violence 4-miler", Tewksbury resident Marie Gesvaldo was 33rd with a time of 46:24. At the "Knights on the Run 5K" in North Andover, Tewksbury residents who crossed the finish line included Rebecca Healey (13th, 20:32) and Melissa Gleaton (282nd, 53:30).

Finally at the "Steps2CureNF 5K" in Wakefield, Wilmington residents competing included Jaelyn Walsh (57th, 33:51), Meagan O'Leary (58th, 33:56) and Alexis Mastronardi (61st, 34:07).

Rams Volleyball team needs to finish strong

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Volleyball team will be looking to clinch a tournament spot this week, but their task was made much more difficult with a heartbreaking 3-2 (25-15, 32-30, 24-26, 21-25, 13-15) loss to league leading Whittier on Tuesday afternoon.

The two and a half hour match came down to the exciting final set where Shawsheen found themselves trailing 6-0 in the early going and then leading 13-12 before Whittier finally came away with the 15-13 win and the match victory.

"We played really well, especially after that first set, but we just came up a little short," Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn said.

With the loss, the Lady Rams dropped to 6-9 on the season, and with three matches left in the season must win all three if they are going to qualify for the state tournament.

For Shawsheen, senior Kerin O'Hearn had an outstanding match, with 14 service points to lead the team, while Lauren Beachy had five kills and Kylie Barrett had two kills.

"Lauren and Kylie did not have a ton of kills, but they both did a great job of keeping the ball in play and making some nice shots," Flynn said. "This was the best hitting match we have had in quite some time in terms of keeping the ball in play and not hitting it out of bounds or making unforced errors."

While the loss certainly stings for Shawsheen after coming so close to not only picking up a big win, but also knocking off one of the best teams in the league, Flynn chose after the match to focus on the positives for his team.

"I definitely think it was a positive because we have not played real well against good teams this season and we did today," Flynn said. "We actually played very poorly in the first game, but after that we played very well and I told our players after the game that if we keep playing like that we could win all three of the matches we have left. I think we felt pretty good after the match even though we lost."

In their previous match last Thursday which served as the Lady Rams Homecoming, they earned a 3-0 (25-10, 25-12, 25-15) over Fellowship with Mikayla Porcaro leading the way with nine service points and 12 assists, while Beachy had seven kills.

"Mikayla played very well for us," Flynn said. "We moved her to setter for the match and she responded and played very well."

Shawsheen will look to start their march to the post season on Wednesday when they host Lynn Tech followed by a road match against Nashoba Tech on Thursday before wrapping up their season at home on Friday against CAC co-leader PMA.

GOLF

It was another successful season for the Shawsheen Golf team, as they captured their tenth straight CAC regular season title last week, but the season did not end as well as the Rams and coach Tom Struthers would have liked as they struggled mightily in the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament on Monday afternoon at Far Corners Golf Course, finishing next to last in the field.

Prior to that however, the Rams had played very well in earning a second place finish at the CAC League Tournament at Hillview Golf Course in North Reading. While somewhat of a disappointment in its own right, as the Rams are accustomed to winning this tournament, Struthers felt his team played well in coming in just behind Northeast Metro Tech and well ahead of third place finisher Minuteman, the regular season co-champion along with Shawsheen.

"It was a little surprising for us to come in second after playing so well, but you have to give Northeast credit," Struthers said. "They just came out and played very well and they earned it."

Senior captain Steve Ferreira of Tewksbury led the way for the Rams, along with sophomore Chris Mills, each of whom fired a 75 over the 18 holes, while senior Ryan Collins shot an 82 and Michael Kelly shot an 88 to round up the top scorers for Shawsheen, who finished six strokes behind Northeast.

"We had some good rounds in there, especially Stevie and Mills, but it just wasn't quite enough," Struthers said. While obviously disappointed not being able to capture another tournament championship, Struthers says his team can still look back on this season with plenty to be proud of.

"All in all it was a good season," Struthers said. "It was nice to win the league again, especially because this year we had to beat out some good competition in Minuteman and Northeast. It was a tough three team race this season."

The Rams will lose Ferreira and Collins to graduation, making their task of going for their 11th league crown in a row that much more difficult, but Struthers will be looking for some younger players, starting with Mills, to step up and lead the team.

"We've got a bunch of promising kids coming back for next year and they have seen what it's like for these kids who get to play in these big tournaments when they play well and they want to be a part of that," Struthers said. "You never know what next year could bring. Hopefully these kids work hard in the off season and we come back even stronger and hopefully we will also have some new kids come out for the team to help us out as well."

GIRLS SOCCER

The Shawsheen Girls Soccer team also continued their domination of the CAC, capturing their seventh straight league title a couple of weeks ago. The Lady Rams are now 10-6 overall and a perfect 8-0 in the CAC after a Homecoming loss to Triton last Saturday morning.

In the loss to Triton, Shawsheen actually played very well before dropping a 3-1 decision to their tournament bound opponents. Triton scored in the opening minute of the game to put Shawsheen in an early hole, and went up 2-0 in the 23rd minute before Shawsheen closed to within 2-1 in the 28th minute on a goal by Lynne Snook on an assist by Emily Irwin.

Triton, however, would come back to extend their lead to 2-1 before the end of the half with a goal in the final two minutes.

While the goal late in the half certainly hurt, Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud felt that the goal early in the game was the biggest of the contest for Triton.

"We had talked before the game about how if we could get up on them quick it would change the game and put them on their heels," Michaud said. "But instead they got the early one and we were the ones on our heels."

Shawsheen had lost to Triton 3-0 earlier in the season and while the score was similar this time around, Michaud felt his team played better on Saturday on their home turf.

"Yeah, absolutely I felt we played better," Michaud said. "The last game they kind of wore us down and in this one it seemed to be more of an even battle. Last time it seemed like we were always under pressure and that was not the case today. They are a good team. They play a lot of good teams all year long and they qualified for the tournament."

Also playing well for Shawsheen were midfielders Lisa Ferreri, Nicole Maffa, Kaleigh Gammon, and Yvette Simoes.

Shawsheen will be back in action on Thursday when they host North Shore Essex before wrapping up their regular season next Tuesday with their annual game with Wilmington on the road.

Shawsheen Football team picks up first victory of the season

By MIKE IPPOLITO

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA -- A little rest for a football team can often be a good thing at this time of the season, with most teams welcoming the bye week as a way to get healthier and work on any weaknesses that have shown up during the season.

But getting as much rest as the Shawsheen Tech Football team had going into last Saturday's CAC Homecoming clash with Northeast Metro Tech can have just the opposite effect, as the Rams headed into Saturday's contest having not played a game in 21 days, since their victory over Greater Lowell back on September 27.

Shawsheen had a bye game following their meeting with the Gryphons, only to see the next week's game against CAC foe Greater Lawrence postponed due to illness on the Reggie's squad, so being a little rusty and out of sync was a big concern for the Shawsheen coaching staff heading into Saturday.

As it turned out, they needn't have worried, as the Rams pulled out a thrilling 13-8 victory to improve to 2-3 on the season and more importantly 2-0 in the CAC Large with a huge game coming up this Saturday at Whittier to likely determine the league champion.

The Rams were led to victory on the strength of the arm of junior quarterback Alex Tate (11-for-14, 118 yards, 2 TD's) of Tewksbury and the running of senior running back Chris Arkalis (24 carries, 149 yards), as well as wide receiver Alex Diranian (9 catches, 102 yards, 2 TD's), but the matter was not decided until Tate connected with Diranian for a 28-yard touchdown pass with 2:48 left in the game.

For Shawsheen coach Al Costabile the key to the game was the fast start his team got off to, as they took their opening possession and went on a 12 play, 60 yard drive to jump out to a quick 7-0 lead when Tate hit Diranian with an 11-yard touchdown pass.

Arkalis provided 40 of the yards on the drive on six running plays.

"That was really huge for us after the long layoff," Costabile said. "After no games in twenty-one days we were all concerned about how we might look early in the game, so to come out like that and score on the first series was just what we needed. And Chris was huge for us on that drive, getting us off to a fast start."

Shawsheen controlled play for much of the first half, moving the ball very well against the normally stout Northeast defense, but they would not score again as a pair of turnovers ended two drives, including one drive that ended in a 92-yard interception return for a touchdown by Northeast to out the Rams in an 8-7 hole at the end of the first half.

Shawsheen also saw their final drive of the half end up just short of the goal line as Tate connected with Diranian for what looked like a touchdown pass, but the official ruled that he had been stopped just short as time expired in the half.

"We had four trips to the red zone in the first half and we ended up with one score, two turnovers and then that play at the end," Costabile said. "So I was proud of the way our guys responded in the second half, after going into halftime losing even though we had moved the ball so well."

Northeast started to get their offense going in the second half as well, but a pair of big plays by Brian Neal helped thwart drives, including an interception in the end zone during the third quarter.

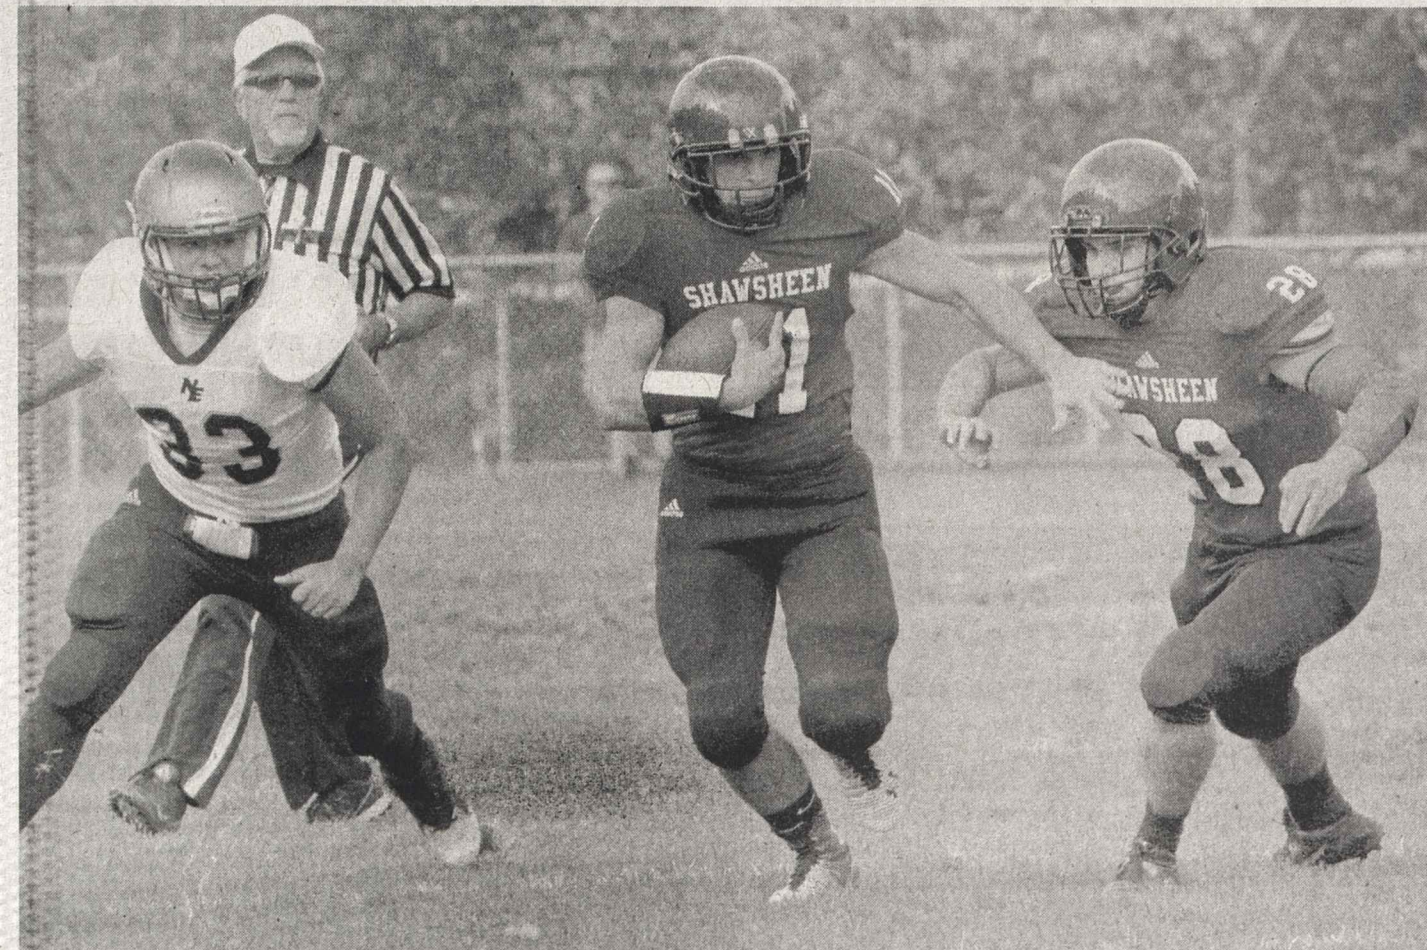

Neal's next big play came with about five minutes left when he recovered a fumble, giving Shawsheen one last chance to score, and Tate and Diranian took full advantage of their final chance, connecting on the big touchdown pass with 2:48 left.

"That was a great throw and as great catch," Costabile said. "Alex threw a great pass, and Andrew did a great job of going up and shielding the defensive back and using his body position to make a great catch."

John Reynolds of Wilmington sealed the victory for the Rams with an interception of a Northeast pass in the final minute.

On Saturday morning at 10:30 the Rams will travel to Haverhill to take on Whittier who will bring a 4-2 (2-0) record into the contest, and Costabile knows it will be no easy task to pull out the win and come away as league champions and the Division 5 playoff berth that comes with it.

"They are loaded. Their senior class is outstanding," Costabile said. "They have been gunning for this for a few years now and they have an excellent team. That has been their goal from day one this season, so we have our work cut out for us."

Barrett leads locals at half marathon

By BRENDAN FOLEY

LOWELL- It has been a busy fall for local racers, with every weekend affording locals the chance to compete in the toughest and most rewarding races in the state.

This past weekend was the annual Baystate Half Marathon, where Wilmington and Tewksbury runners were a major force among the over 1600 racers. And last week saw the historic Tufts Health Plan 10K, drawing thousands of men and women to race for the cause of women's health.

Leading the pack for local runners in the Baystate was Katie Gessler of Tewksbury, who finished 96th with a final time of 1:31:86. The highest placing male runner from Tewksbury was Stiffan Zwirek, who came in 178th with a final time of 1:38:53.

The highest placing Wilmington runner was Julie Barrett, who finished 184th with a time of 1:39:12. The highest placing Wilmington man was Johnathan Cormier 627th, with a final time of 1:56:52.

Other Wilmington finishers were Debbie Reppucci (824th, 2:03:04), Nancy Turner (1379th, 2:26:18), Bethany Nazzar (1381st, 2:26:26), and Nirav Shah (1490th, 2:36:53).

Other Tewksbury finishers were Kim Budryk (296th, 1:45:00), Robin Kavanaugh (362nd, 1:47:32), Matt Blair (578th, 1:55:07), Doreen Cronin (626th, 1:56:48), Jean Della Piana (715th, 1:59:09), Maria Sullivan (724th, 1:59:15), Diana Grove (740th, 1:59:54), Lisa Broderick (743rd, 2:00:10), Jennifer Stanton (804th, 2:02:27), Jeanne Martin (821st, 2:03:01), Beth Luken-Martin (825th, 2:03:05), Marli Piccolo (850th, 2:03:39), Kaileigh Gorman (906th, 2:05:21), Kelly Pym (1,022nd, 2:09:41), and Annette

CORRECTION

In last week's edition, there was a story written by Brendan Foley, who gave results for a couple of local road races. Among the results listed came from the Tufts 10K and those results were added in by Sports Editor Jamie Pote, not Foley and those results were incorrect, as they came from last year's race.

In this section, we have the completed results of this year's Tufts 10K race. We apologize for the error and the confusion.

Mo Malanson (1,141st, 2:14:14), Kristen Brennan (1,164th, 2:15:02), Angelle Schmidt (1,247th, 2:18:33), Cindy McLaughlin (1,252nd, 2:18:55), Michael Brewster (1,264th, 2:19:35), Toni Wood (1,265th, 2:19:37), Jenn Pestana (1,288th, 2:20:56), Kim Lannon (1,471st, 2:34:11), Kelly Khachadourian (1,474th, 2:34:52), Christina Ristuccia (1,496th, 2:37:49) and Nicole Hutcheon (1,559th, 2:49:16).

The Tufts Health Plan 10K for Women has a historic background, originating in 1977 as the Bonne Bell Mini Marathon. The race has routinely been designated as the largest women-only races in the country, and has been reported to draw around 20,000 spectators.

Tewksbury running mainstay Trish Bourne put up a spectacular showing, finishing 72nd overall with a final time of 40:13. The top Wilmington finisher was Lizzie McDermott, who finished 86th with a time of 41:58.

Wilmington Youth Hockey team recaps

It was a wild weekend of hockey for the Wilmington Youth Hockey Association PeeWee 2 team, with games on both Saturday and Sunday morning.

Saturday saw the boys on the big rink at Merrimack College Lawler Arena to take on Peabody. As usual, Max Churchill was in goal, with Conor Peterson and Justin Healey the starting defense pairing.

Peabody jumped to a quick lead in the first period, but the Wildcat's struck back with Jason Davey scoring on a feed from Will Alworth. Shortly after tying the score, Wilmington went on the power play when Peabody was whistled for the first of what would turn out to be a full card of penalties.

Peabody killed off that penalty, and then late in the first period took the lead back with one minute remaining. Peabody built the lead to 3-1 in the second period, and after matching penalties led to a stint of four-on-four play, the Tanners scored on a power play to make it 4-1.

After another penalty to Peabody, The Wildcat power play connected to narrow the deficit to 4-2, Brayden Sanborn making a tip at the front of the net of Joe Hansen's shot on goal.

In the third period, Peabody notched a fifth goal to get the lead back up to three and the scoring ended from there.

Sunday morning was a trip to New Hampshire to play Hollis at the Cyclones Arena in Hudson. The Wildcats shuffled the line up a bit, with Ryan Packer and Joseph Hartzell starting on defense, backed up by Anthony Bowker and Brian Dunfey. Hollis used the first period to build a 3-0 lead as Wilmington sorted out three sets of wings alternating shifts with only two centers available.

When the teams switched ends of the ice for the second period, the momentum shifted right along with them. Brendan George got the Wildcats on the board just over a minute into the period, and Joe Hansen knocked in another just seconds later.

An in-game adjustment moving Joseph Hartzell to forward and Joseph Cornish back to defense paid off when Hartzell fed the puck to Brendan George at the top of the crease, and George completed the comeback to even the score at 3-3.

After killing off a penalty, Wilmington grabbed the lead when Jake Glinner scored with an assist from Alworth.

The second period ended with another penalty kill for Wilmington, but the start of the third saw Jason Davey extend the lead to 5-3, Glinner getting the assist.

The teams played out evenly through the final frame, and Hollis scored with just under three minutes remaining to draw within a goal. The Wildcat defense tightened up, with the forwards doing their best to slow the Hollis attack by identifying and shadowing the best players on the opposition.

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Squirt 4's continued their hot play of late this past weekend, winning their fourth game in a row in convincing fashion, with a 5-1 win over Andover AG at Phillips Academy Harrison Rink on Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats were led once again on Saturday as they have been in many of their recent games by the scoring of Jordan Legere who netted four goals in the game, giving him eleven in the Wildcats past three games.

Bobby Dodge actually got the scoring underway for the Wildcats with a goal less than two minutes into the game, and from there Wilmington was off to the races, going out to a 3-0 lead at the end of one period.

Legere would score his first goal of the game with 7:40 left in the period and quickly added his second with 6:35 left to make it 3-0 as the teams went to the break.

Andover got on the board early in the second period, making it 3-1 with 8:10 left in the frame, but Legere, with help from linemates Zach Weinstein and Shane Costello made it a three goal margin once again with 2:11 left in the period, making it 4-1 as the teams switched sides once again.

If Andover had any thoughts of making a comeback they were quickly thwarted by the efforts of the Wildcats defensive trio of Sean O'Donoghue, Adam Ippolito and Jack Seibel, each of whom double shifted throughout the game and still held their opponents at bay.

When Andover did break through the tough Wildcats defense they did not fare any better, as they could not beat the stellar goaltending of Jake McLean, who nearly came up with his third shutout of the season.

Legere would add one more tally with exactly five minutes left in the game, and while the Wildcats controlled the rest of the game behind the relentless attack of Dodge, Dylan Mullarky and Nick Spencer they were unable to add to their lead.

The Wildcats appear to be playing their best hockey of the season at just the right time, as they outscored their opponents 26-3 in the final three games of the Parity Round.

Wilmington will square off against Lexington/Bedford this Saturday at 2:00 at the Hayden Recreation Centre in Lexington.

Mite X-1

The Wilmington Mites X1 played a pair of exciting games last week at Methuen High School against league rival teams from Billerica and Tewksbury. The game against Billerica was a thriller for the opening puck drop until the final buzzer.

The Wildcats jumped out to an early lead on the first of Ben Doucette's three goals in the game.

Billerica answered back quickly, but Patrick Hounsell had a reply of his own when he deposited a beautiful feed from Jessica Martinson into the back of the net to put the Wildcats back on top. The play of Zachary Mackeil stood out as he had his strongest game of the year, playing like an animal on both ends of the ice and registering an assist for all his hard work.

Each side put goals on the scoreboard in the middle of the contest highlighted by a slick backhand score by Doucette and a stunning rink-long rush ending with a pinpoint top shelf tally by Wilmington skater Jake Witalisz.

The Wildcats kept up the pressure as Witalisz added a second goal and an assist and Brennan Walsh put back to back goals into the net. The Wildcat defense had trouble keeping Billerica off of the board though, and with less than five minutes to go, the Wildcats again trailed. That's when Patrick Hounsell and goalie Gavin Russell took the game over and yanked the Wildcats away from the jaws of defeat.

Russell made several pivotal stops that kept the score tight and Hounsell netted back to back crunch time goals to close out the scoring.

Wilmington faced the Tewksbury Redmen next and the 'Cats hit the ice flying. Aidan Guyette opened up the scoring by charging down the ice on a breakaway and roofing the puck over the goalkeeper's left shoulder.

Bruce Green-Audette was rewarded for his strong play when he followed the goal up almost immediately and finished off a breakaway of his own to give the 'Cats an early lead that they would not let go of.

Tewksbury was able to put a few goals on the board and Wilmington had to call on their goaltender Jessica Martinson to slow down the Tewksbury attack and make some difficult stops. She was strong in net, calmly covering up the puck to prevent any second chance scoring opportunities. Jack Martinson, Liam Milne, and Madelynn Sainato pushed hard to get the Wildcat offense rolling again.

One of Jack Martinson's two assists came when he sent a pass to Sainato and she wrapped it around the net and past the keeper. Milne scored the first of his three goals after taking a nifty crossing feed from Aidan Guyette.

Several players had multiple point games. Jake Witalisz had an assist and scored two goals including a beautiful wrap around score. Patrick Hounsell had two assists and added two goals, one of which was a weaving Orr-like solo effort. Ben Doucette added to his season long scoring streak by scoring four goals and two big time assists. Brennan Walsh's big time six goal game included a smooth finish from close range that he put over the keeper and a breakaway after some strong work in the defensive zone.

Mite 3's

The Wilmington Wildcats Mite 3 team improved their record to 3-2-1 on Sunday in Methuen against Concord-Carlisle Mite 2s. The Cats beat CC with a score of 11-5.

The Cats offense was well dispersed with seven different goal scorers including Nolan Joyce, Megan Mullarky, Ryan Quamme, Kiley Bloom, Ryan Flynn, Lily MacKenzie and Zack Guyette.

While CC tried to get into the game and launch their own offensive attack, the defensive play by Nick DiGiovani and 23 save by Derek Perault help seal the victory for the 'Cats.

Community weighs one percent surcharge to dedicate toward Historic Preservation, Open Space, Outdoor Recreation and Community Housing

Is the Community Preservation Act right for Woburn?

BY RYAN LAROCHE

Woburn is one of 10 communities voting next month on whether or not to adopt the Community Preservation Act (CPA).

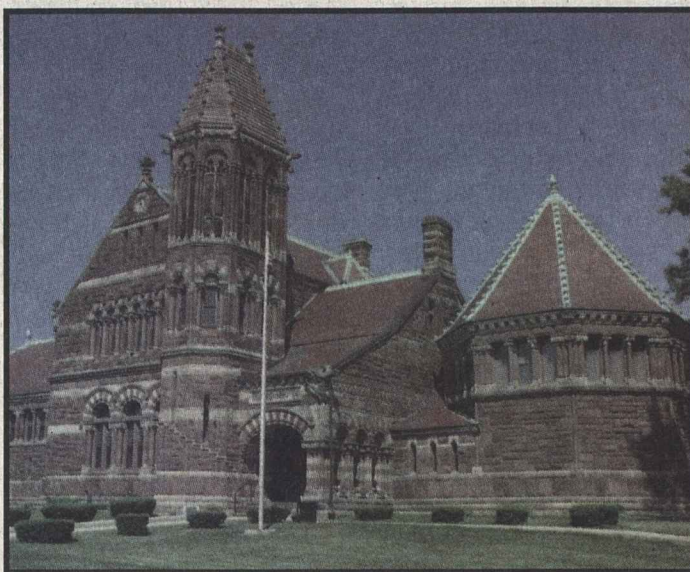

Proponents say it is a smart growth tool that enables communities to preserve open space and historic sites, create affordable housing and develop outdoor recreational facilities. It can also help strengthen state and local economies by expanding housing opportunities and construction jobs for the Commonwealth's workforce, and by supporting the tourism industry through preservation of the state's historic and natural resources.

Then Gov. Paul Cellucci signed the act into law on Sept. 14, 2000.

While it sounds like a solid plan for preservation and affordable housing, is it right for Woburn? 12 years ago, just two years after the governor signed the act into law, Woburn voted down the CPA. June Mackenzie, one of the main local proponents of the act, said that in 2002 it didn't pass because it was a last-minute effort. Back then the city asked for a three percent surcharge.

The City Council voted to place the question on the ballot, however neither the council nor the Mayor have made a recommendation either for or against the CPA. This one is up to the residents.

WOBURN PUBLIC LIBRARY (above) is just one the potential benefactors of the proposed Community Preservation Act in Woburn. CPA funds may only be used for historic preservation, open space, outdoor recreation, and community housing.

This year, proponents of the CPA have had much more time to spread the word. And the word is money. Mackenzie said the city has lost millions by not adopting the CPA, because they pay into it for every real estate transaction.

Unlike the 2002 effort which asked for a three percent surcharge, residents of the city this time would have to pay a one percent surcharge - or less than an extra $26 a year on their taxes on average, according to Mackenzie.

The surcharge is levied against the tax amount, not the value of the property. For example, a CPA surcharge of 1 percent on a real property tax bill of $1,000 would be $10, or 1 percent of $1,000, per year. Exempt from this surcharge will be the first $100,000 of the value of each taxable parcel of residential and commercial real property.

According to the CPA group the residential average surcharge numbers break down as follows: $14.31 for a condo, $29.48 for a three-family house, $25.43 for a two-family house, and $35.60 for a single-family home.

Mackenzie feels they would get back so much more. That's why she and other proponents have been all over the city trying to educate voters, including appearing on cable access TV and community meetings.

Mackenzie said the city could generate as much as $733,993 based on FY13 data (that does not include the state matching funds). According to Mackenzie, if passed some of the money could go toward the proposed $25M library addition.

If approved, Woburn could be able to create enough affordable housing so as to not have to accept any more 40B projects (Ch. 40B is a state statute that enables the ZBA to approve affordable housing developments under flexible rules if at least 20-25 percent of the units have long-term affordability restrictions. The Woburn Heights project was the last one the ZBA approved, though it is currently under appeal by the city.)

CPA funds could also assist the city in preserving historic sites such as the library, schools, churches, and other structures. It could create new ball fields, playgrounds and trails for walking or biking. It could preserve land to protect drinking water, local agriculture and wildlife. It could enable the city to develop a housing plan to assist seniors and rehabilitate old apartments to serve young families or small households.

Mackenzie also said the funds could benefit the city by helping it to preserve the open space at Shannon Farm - should the city move forward with a purchase. Currently, a developer already has a purchase and sales agreement for the 18 acres. However because it is 61A agricultural land, Woburn has first right of refusal. Mayor Scott Galvin said he will take it under consideration using the full 120-day window. He mentioned that other projects are further ahead including the Hurd Wyman School and the library addition.

Should Woburn residents choose to adopt the CPA, they would have the option of increasing or abolishing the

by Paul Feely

NO LONGER ALL-AMERICAN BOYS, they are more of a renegade biker gang, killing prisoners and then retreating to their Sherman tank.

"Fury" is on one of the great war/action films, a hard look at the blood, guts and terror of combat.

But writer/director David Ayer ("Training Day," "End of Watch") is aiming for more. He wants to show how combat dehumanizes the individuals who must do the dirty work.

We are introduced to the five-man crew of Fury, a Sherman tank, on a German battlefield in the spring of 1945, during the last gasps of the war. The tank commander, Sgt. Don "Wardaddy" Collier (Brad Pitt), makes short, silent work of a passing German officer (a knife in the eye-ball does the trick). He then climbs back into the tank occupied by three living crewmen and the headless corpse of a fourth.

Everyone has seen war movies stocked with various American "types": a Jew, a Hispanic, a black, a college boy, a redneck. Audience members are meant to identify with them.

Try identifying with the soldiers who live in Fury. The mechanic Grady Travis ("Walking Dead's" Jon Bernthal) seems more a Neanderthal than modern man. The gunner, Boyd "Bible" Swan (a nearly unrecognizable Shia LaBeouf), is intensely religious — he abstains from drink and women but seems to find release in blowing Germans all to hell. The driver, Trini "Gordo" Garcia (Michael Pena), is a bit closer to normal.

After years of fighting, whatever civilized veneer these guys had has been stripped away. No longer all-American boys, they are more of a renegade biker gang, killing prisoners and then retreating to their Sherman tank.

These characters are borderline cartoonish. Only some terrific acting keeps "Fury" from spinning off into pure goofiness.

Into this drops an innocent, Norman Ellison (Logan Lerman), a clerk/typist who is expected — without training — to drive a tank and mow down Germans. The kid must learn the hard way to shoot first if he and his crew mates are going to survive. The question is whether he'll sacrifice his humanity along the way.

In a long and very tense scene set in an apartment, two young German women (Anamaria Marinca, Alicia von Rittberg) quite sensibly view the newly arrived Yanks as potential murderers and sexual predators. That we're not sure just what evil these guys — our guys — are capable of makes for some nerve-knotting suspense.

Pitt is terrific as Wardaddy, who in front of his men is a die-hard killing machine (he forces the new kid to execute a quivering German POW) but collapses in convulsive sobs when given a moment alone.

Nearly matching him is Lerman, whose reaction to the horrors around him is heartbreaking.

Action fans will not be disappointed. "Fury" is full of explosive scenes.

They are spooky and kooky 'The Addams Family, A New Musical' in Stoneham

Stoneham Theatre serves up a spooky family treat this Halloween with The Addams Family, A New Musical

This October, the spooky and kooky family created by legendary cartoonist Charles Addams takes the stage at Stoneham Theatre in The Addams Family, A New Musical. This charming family-friendly musical arrives just in time for Halloween with performances running October 16 through November 9, 2014. Written by Marshal Brickman and Rick Elice (Jersey Boys) with music and lyrics by Andrew Lippa (John + Jen and The Wild Party), this production is directed by Stoneham Theatre's Producing Artistic Director Weylin Symes.

Gomez and Morticia Addams couldn't be prouder of their creepy and kooky family. When their delightfully sinister daughter, Wednesday, falls in love with a perfectly normal boy, nothing will ever be the same. "This musical is superbly fitting with Halloween and great fun. It brings out the strange joy in the haunted lifestyle of the Addams, depicting bizarre, yet loving, people who celebrate the peculiarities found in every family," shared Symes.

The Addams Family, A New Musical stars award-winning actor Thomas Derrah as Uncle Fester, Stoneham favorite Kathy St. George as Grandma, and Steve Gagliastro as Gomez. This production boasts of a cast of 15 talented cast members such as Vanessa Dunleavy as Morticia, Colby Morgan as Lurch, Sarah Pothier as Wednesday, Jordan Ahnquist as Lucas Beineke, and Stoneham's young company student Phillip Dragone as Pugsley. Elliot Norton Award winner Ilyse Robbins returns to Stoneham Theatre as choreographer.

The Addams Family, A New Musical opens on October 16, 2014 and runs through November 9, 2014. Performances are Thursdays at 7:30pm; Fridays at 8pm; Saturdays at 3pm and 8pm; and Sundays at 2pm. The Press Opening is Saturday, October 18, 2014 at 3pm. There is a post-show talkback on Sunday, October 19, 2014. Tickets are $50-$55. Senior tickets are $45-$50. Student tickets are $15 (with a valid ID). For more information or to purchase tickets, call Stoneham Theatre's Box Office at 781-279-2200, or visit www.stonehamtheatre.org.

VIETNAM MEMORIAL (STONEHAM)

"The Veterans Office and the Town of Stoneham are creating a new Vietnam War plaque to honor veterans who served in the Vietnam era and were a resident of Stoneham at the time of their enlistment," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The Town needs your help in getting a new plaque recognizing every Stoneham resident who served during the Vietnam era whether 'in country' or not.

"Everyone looking to be put on the plaque must meet the criteria above. Please contact Veterans Agent Jim Devlin with your name, your relative's name, date of birth, and any other helpful information that will help him to do this detailed research. If you have a DD 214, that's the most important document that's needed. This could take 6 months to a year and cannot be done correctly without your cooperation...."

HOUSING BEAUTIFUL BURLINGTON

"As part of the Planned Development District (PDD) requirements that were approved by the town for Northwest Park, off Middlesex Turnpike, the Nordblom Company presented its multi-family housing design for Second Ave. to the Planning Board, which the members approved 6-0 (member Joseph Impemba was absent from the meeting)," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Nordblom Company formally stated they were in front of the board pursuant to the terms of the PDD for Northwest Park which requires the applicant to submit a special permit application for the property..."

"The amendment entails reducing the number of living units, level of floors, and some of the parking layout - this is all considered Phase I of the PDD housing project..."

"Senior Vice President of Development for the Nordblom Company Todd Fremont-Smith revealed the number of units in the building is going to go from 203 to 180, and the number of levels in the building is also being reduced from five to four. There are plans to build parking into the grade and create more green-space for the courtyard aspect of the development. The building is going to go from a U-shape to an E-shape...."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Can you identify four NFL teams named for states rather than cities?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The Stonehill College women's cross country team, ranked No. 22 in this week's U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCA) Division II poll, and ranked second in the East Region, finished 13th overall among 38 teams competing at the New England Championships, held at Franklin Park in Dorchester, Massachusetts.

Senior Emily Anderson (Manchester, Connecticut/Manchester) paced the Skyhawks with her personal best time of 18:29.51, good for 46th overall on the five-kilometer course. Anderson's effort eclipsed her previous best of 19:15.1 that she set as a freshman at the 2011 New England Championships.

Not far behind was Northeast-10 Conference (NE-10) Athlete of the Week and 2013 NE-10 Rookie of the Year Nicole Borofski (Plymouth, Massachusetts/Plymouth North), who crossed the finish line 52nd overall and clocked in at 18:32.58.

Sophomore Aisha McAdams (North Kingstown, Rhode Island/North Kingstown) followed Borofski with her 72nd place finish in 18:45.47, while CLASSMATE ALEXANDRA BUONFIGLIO (LYNNFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS/LYNN FIELD) turned in a 79th place effort with a time of 18:49.54. Buonfiglio's mark tops her previous best time of 19:18 at last season's NE-10 Championship.

Sophomore Nicole Borofski followed Anderson in 52nd place with a personal best 18:32.58 mark.

SENIOR ERIN RIELLY (BURLINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS/BURLINGTON) was the fifth Skyhawk to complete today's course, doing so in a personal best time of 18:53.77, good for 94th overall.

Stonehill's 338 points were good enough for 13th overall, sandwiched between Division I programs Northeastern University (320 points, 12th) and the College of the Holy Cross (366 points, 14th).

Stonehill's 13th place finish was the program's best since it posted a 12th place effort in 2012. The Skyhawks also turned in 15th place performances in both 2013 and 2011.

Stonehill College kept the game scoreless for almost 35 minutes, but top-ranked Southern New Hampshire University came away with a 2-0 victory recently in Northeast-10 Conference men's soccer action at Larkin Field.

Southern New Hampshire junior midfielder Sebastian Stezewski (New Britain, Connecticut/New Britain) broke the scoreless tie at the 34:49 mark when he took a pass from graduate midfielder Brian Grisell (Brookfield, Connecticut/Brookfield) at the top of the 18-yard box and fired a shot into the bottom left corner of the net.

STONEHILL SENIOR GOALKEEPER ADAM COLELLA (WILMINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS/ST. JOHN'S PREP) made a season-high eight saves for the Skyhawks. Colella made a combined nine saves in his first two starts of the season last week.

Southern New Hampshire, which is currently ranked first in the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) Division II Poll, has now won 26 consecutive NE-10 contests, and the Penmen are unbeaten in their last 31 matches overall dating back to last season.

Need some help with the trivia question? One of the teams is the Minnesota Vikings.

Two members of the Anna Maria College football team garnered week four honors, as JUNIOR RUNNING BACK CHRISTOPHER BETTANO (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) was named the Eastern Collegiate Football Conference (ECFC) Offensive Player of the Week, and freshman wide receiver Trai Weaver (Waterbury, Conn.) was tabbed as the league's Rookie of the Week.

Both student-athletes had high output for the AMCATS in the team's 52-25 loss to Catholic. It marked the first time this season that a member of the Anna Maria program has earned a weekly accolade.

Bettano had a breakthrough day for the AMCATS against Catholic as he rushed for a season-best 151 yards and three touchdowns. He scored his first touchdown on a 56-yard run to give the AMCATS a 6-0 lead. He also scored twice in the third quarter, first on a three-yard run and again on a 17-yard run. Bettano carried the ball 25 times in the game to average six yards per carry. He also added two kick returns for 21 yards, averaging 10.5 yards per return.

Sophomore Nik Haas (Ramsey, N.J./Ramsey HS) was the top finisher for the Bentley University men's cross country team during the New England men's cross country championships at Franklin Park.

Haas was tenth among Division II runners and 108th overall in a field of 262 with an 8,000-meter time of 25:50.58. He improved on his 2013 time by 73 seconds while climbing 92 places in the standings.

Showing an even bigger improvement was JUNIOR DAVID COOPER (WOBURN/WOBURN HS), who bettered his 2013 time by more than three minutes while placing 171st overall in 26:17.15.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The four are the Minnesota Vikings, Arizona Cardinals, Carolina Panthers, and Tennessee Titans.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, 531 Main Street, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

the surcharge amount through a vote by the residents in future years. Two communities are doing just that this election cycle: Amherst is looking to double its surcharge from 1.5 percent to three percent while Essex looks to increase its surcharge a full point from .5 percent to 1.5 percent.

In all, 155 communities in the state have adopted the CPA. Those communities have raised $1.2B and approved 6,000 projects. These communities have created or supported 7,300 affordable housing units. They have also preserved 19,200 acres of open space and made 3,200 sites historic. 1,000 outdoor recreation projects have been initiated.

ated.

Some local communities have voted on the CPA in the past. Stoneham residents rejected the CPA in April of last year. Winchester had a warrant article on the 2007 Spring Town Meeting warrant asking residents to support a Community Preservation Committee pursuant to the town's acceptance of the CPA. With the town not adopting the CPA, the CPC was rejected.

Tewksbury, on the other hand, approved the CPA, as did Lexington, Belmont, Somerville and Cambridge. Tewksbury adopted the CPA in April 2006. Since then, the town has been able to use money for field improvements. Many communities along the south shore, Cape and islands have adopted the CPA.

If Woburn adopts the CPA, it would get additional matching funds each October from the state Community Preservation Trust Fund. The fund's revenues are derived from fees collected at the Registry of Deeds, and from state budget surplus funds.

The city can spend the money on projects of its own choosing as long as the projects fall under one of the allowable categories (preservation of open space and historic sites, creation of affordable housing, development of outdoor recreational facilities).

Communities that adopt the CPA must spend, or set aside, a certain share of the money for three core areas: 10 percent for open space and recreation, 10 percent for historic resources and 10 percent for community housing. The remaining money may be spent or reserved for future projects in any of these three areas.

CPA funds may never be directed to the general city fund; they may only be spent on the CPA core areas of open space, historic preservation, community housing, and outdoor recreation.

Opponents of passage of the CPA view the surcharge as simply another tax - on both residential and business property owners. Currently Woburn tax rate is $10.40 for residential property and $27.01 for commercial property - the maximum shift allowed under state law.

Opponents also say a business who rents in a commercial building will see their rent go up, which will translate into the price of their goods increasing on the consumer. They also say landlords on the residential side will be forced to hike rents in order to pay the one percent increase in taxes.

The full ballot questions reads:

"Shall this City accept sections 3 to 7 inclusive of Chapter 44B of the General Laws, as approved by its legislative body, a summary of which appears below?"

"Sections 3 to 7 of Chapter

44B of the General Laws of Massachusetts, also known as the Community Preservation Act, establish a dedication funding source to acquire, create and preserve open space, including land for parks, recreational uses and conservation land; acquire, preserve, rehabilitate and restore historic resources including historic building; acquire, create, preserve, rehabilitate and restore land for recreational use, including parks, playgrounds and athletic fields; and to acquire, create, preserve, and support affordable housing. In Woburn, the Community Preservation Act will be funded by an additional one percent (1%) on the annual tax levy against real estate to be assessed beginning in Fiscal 2016 (July 1, 2015); and by annual distributions from the state. Exempt from this surcharge will be property owned and occupied as a domicile by a person who would qualify for low income housing or low or moderate income senior housing in the city as defined in Section 2 of the Chapter 44B; $100,000 of the value of each taxable parcel of residential real property; and $100,000 of the value of each taxable parcel of class three, commercial property, and class four, industrial property as defined in section 2A of chapter 59, of the General Laws. Any taxpayer who receives a property tax abatement or exemption under Chapter 59 of the General Laws will also receive a pro rata reduction in the surcharge. A Community Preservation Committee composed of local citizens will make recommendations on the use of the funds which must then be approved by the City Council. All expenditures will be subject to an annual audit."

At The Residence at Pearl Street

Lizzie Borden and the 40 Whacks

The Delvena Theatre Company will be presenting Lizzie Borden and the 40 Whacks at The Residence at Pearl Street, on Wednesday, October 29, at 2:00 PM.

On a scorching hot day in Fall River, back in August of 1892, a heinous crime occurred. Spinster Lizzie Borden was accused, tried, and acquitted for the vicious ax murders of her father and stepmother. This true unsolved mystery has fascinated people for over 100 years. Two people died on that day in 1892, but Lizzie continues to live on in American folklore.

An edutainment production, written by Fran Baron and directed by Joseph Zamparelli, Jr. the show will feature Lynne Moulton and Joseph Zamparelli, Jr. in multiple roles. The performance includes a mock trial that invites the audience to participate by questioning Lizzie and deciding her guilt or innocence. Did she or didn't she? You be the judge on October 29th at The Residence at Pearl Street.

Since seating is limited, please R.S.V.P. by calling (781) 944-9200. Audience members are encouraged to participate. All attendees will be entered in a raffle for dinner for two at a local restaurant.

Lynne Moulton has performed several roles for Delvena Theatre including her IRNE nominated Martha in Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? and Sissy in Piece of My Heart and also for numerous other theatre companies in the New England area. She received her acting training at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art under the direction of Sir Robert Palmer and at Trinity Rep Conservatory.

This week's Sampler: Branell

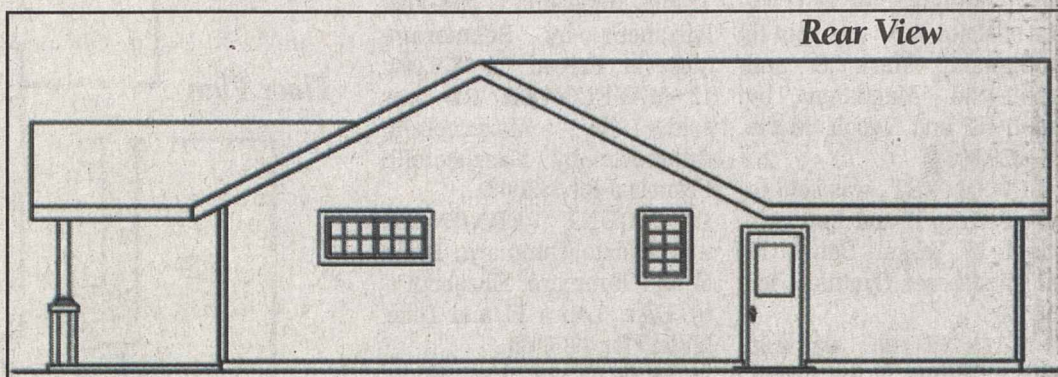

Ideal for vacation or all year long

Multipaned windows sparkle across the front of the Branell, a single-level, ranch-style home that makes an inviting beach house or vacation cabin. But there's no need to limit it to those uses. This plan has everything a single person or small family needs for year-round living.

Shingle siding accents the front gable, and custom trimmed, square columns support a wide front porch that spans the entire front facade. It would be fun to hang an old fashioned wooden swing at one end or the other, or outfit the

THIS CHARMING TWO-BEDROOM COTTAGE HOME PLAN has a welcoming front porch that spans the front and wraps around to one side. Vaulted ceilings add to the sense of spaciousness where the dining, living and kitchen areas are open to each other. Shelves and a closet line the hall that links the kitchen, utility room, and garage.
